MAN WHO SHOT DEER Filed at State House Today by Rep. Marchand

Failed to Appear in Answer to the Charge

Leon Ingram, of Nashua, who it is alleged, shot a deer in Tyngsboro last month in violation of the game laws, was to have appeared in police court this morning to answer, but he failed to do so. After the regular court session had been concluded Judge Pickman said he would remain in the judges office for an hour in order to try the matter if the Nashua man put in an appearance, but shortly after 11 o'clock the witnesses for the government decided it would be a waste of time to remain any longer.

The complaint was brought by James L. Mills, of Ayer, deputy game warden, and according to the information which he gave the court he had noticed Ingram to be present in court yesterday and the latter promised to do so. When the case was called yesterday Ingram was not present and yesterday afternoon word was telephoned to Ingram and the latter promised to be sure and appear in court this morning.

What the next move in the matter will be has not yet been decided.

Lawyers in Argument

The postponed case of John Blazons, charged with the charge of $20 from George Yurewicz, which was to have been tried today was again postponed and is scheduled for trial next Tuesday morning. Bennett Silverblatt, who appears for the complainant, asked for the continuance while Daniel J. Donahue, who appears for the defendant, objects to another continuance. Before the matter of continuance was finally settled Messrs. Donahue and Silverblatt got into a parley of words which caused much merriment among the spectators in the court room.

Mr. Silverblatt's reason for having the matter postponed till next week was that he desired time in order to locate an important witness. On the other hand, Mr. Donahue contended that counsel on the other side had had plenty of time to locate the witness and he thought it was an injustice to keep his client away from his employment.

GLEASON FAMILY REUNION
Upper Row—Baby Carl, Mrs. Susie, John Daniel A., Annie V., and Baby Alice Gleason of Lowell.

The vanguard of the delegates arrived this morning and opened headquarters at the Merrimac hotel, where a meeting of the executive board will be held tomorrow at 3 p.m., and a meeting of the committee on credentials at 8 o'clock tomorrow evening. In addition to the state delegates, the presidents of the state councils of Rhode Island, Connecticut and New York are expected to be present. Mr. Humphrey O'Sullivan has furnished elaborate badges for the delegates which will be distributed to them upon their arrival.

The meeting will be opened at 9 o'clock Monday morning by President C. J. Monahan of the local district council, and Mayor Mehan is expected to be present to extend the welcome of the city. The meeting will then go into executive session, and the principal business of the first day will be the consideration of the problem of the woodworking shops and mills of the state to get the employees of these establishments who are not already in the unions to come under the banner of organized labor. On the afternoon of the second day the election of officers will be held.

On Tuesday evening a big open meeting and entertainment will be held to which every carpenter in Lowell and the neighborhood, whether an union man or not, is most cordially invited. There will be no distinction made between the organized and the unorganized. Prominent local citizens will make short addresses along with some of the visitors. On Wednesday the council will hear the reports of the different officers and committees. While the council is held semi-annually, the election of officers takes place annually.

The presiding officer at the council meeting will be State President John Hamigan of Worcester. The other state officers are Vice-President J. C. Generoux of Westfield, Secretary F. Provost of Holyoke and Treasurer F. Hervieux of Springfield. The presidents of the local unions are James McDonald, Union 49 and Orville Ouellette, Union 1610.

Mr. Joseph J. Gleason, a former Lowell boy, but now a prosperous business man of New York, returned to Lowell last week after an absence of 26 years, and was royally entertained by the children of his deceased brother and their families and his staff was at the occasion of a general family union of the Gleasons, at which the photo was taken from which the above cut was reproduced.

Mr. Gleason was tendered three different receptions at the home of his nephew Daniel A. Gleason, the well known musician, at 73 Fourth street, at the home of another nephew, John Gleason, 1005 Central street, and at the home of his niece, Miss Philomena Gleason, Carlton street. The receptions were particularly enjoyable to the guest of honor by reason of the presence at each of his sister Mary of Lawrence. Those who participated in the receptions were Joseph J. Gleason of New York, Mary Gleason of Lawrence, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel A. Gleason and baby Alice, Mr. and Mrs. John Gleason and baby Carl, Misses Catherine and Philomena Gleason and Mr. James Gleason.

THE CHARTER BILL

Rep. Barlow Files Bill to Tax Stock Transfer—Senator Hibbard Wants Open Season for Deer in Middlesex County—Other New Bills of Local Interest

Rep. Barlow Files Bill to Tax Stock Transfer—Senator Hibbard Wants Open Season for Deer in Middlesex County—Other New Bills of Local Interest

Today is the last day for filing bills and petitions in the legislature, and Senator Hibbard, Rep. Barlow and Rep. Marchand made hurried trips to the state house to get in belated bills before the time expired.

The three Lowell bills put in by the three Lowell men today were the charter bill presented by Rep. Marchand; the bill for an appropriation for the Textile school presented by Rep. Barlow and a bill closing certain roads in Lowell and Tyngsboro in the event of an automobile race next fall.

These are only a few of the Lowell bills presented as many others are already in and have been reported.

An important bill introduced yesterday by Rep. Barlow calls for the taxing of stock transfer at the rate of 2 cents on every $100. This is done to get additional revenue for the state. How to get more revenue and reduce the state tax has been the problem of the legislators and Rep. Barlow attempts to solve it by the introduction of the stock transfer bill. Although several attempts have been made to keep down the state tax it remains as high as ever but the passage of the stock transfer bill will tend to reduce it.

Charter Committee Met

The drafting committee of the charter committee of 60 met at the board of trade rooms last evening and completed the draft of the new charter which was filed in the legislature by Rep. George E. Marchand today. The members of the drafting committee are William H. Wilson, chairman; John W. McEvoy, secretary; William A. Hogan, William N. Osgood, Chas. A. Anderson, secretary of the Trades & Labor council; Michael A. Lee and Walter H. Howe.

A meeting of the legislative committee was also held last evening, at which there were present Senator Joseph H. Hibbard and Representative Charles T. Kilpatrick, George E. Marchand, George H. Stevens and Ernest B. Barlow. There were speeches made by Chairman Wilson, Clovis Ouellette, Thomas J. Goyette, A. G. Walsh, Frederic E. Fisher, William N. Osgood, William E. Sproutle and Hon. John E. Drury.

An important change has been made in the original draft of the charter, one referring to the per cent of voters required to put into effect the initiative, referendum or recall. In the original draft and in all other cities where the council form of government obtains 25 per cent of voters make each of these instruments operative. This has been sliced to 12 per cent in the case of the referendum and to 20 per cent in the recall and initiative.

The committee will begin a campaign of education at once.

NEW STATE HIGHWAY

County Commissioners' Work Probably Not Acceptable

Senator Hibbard Introduces Bill Providing for Proper Completion of Roads—Proposition to Place Lowell Bridges in Charge of County Which Will Mean a Saving to City

If the state highway commissioners of the county commissioners a proposition which will mean a considerable saving of money to the city of Lowell. When the county has charge of a bridge it is required to pay 40 per cent of the maintenance of the bridge and the city or town in which the bridge is located, 60 per cent. Although Middlesex county is the richest county in Massachusetts, it maintains only one lone bridge, the well known Tyngsboro bridge. Essex county has charge of every bridge in the city of Lawrence and contributes annually 40 per cent of the cost of maintenance. In Lowell, the city pays the entire cost of the maintenance of the Pawtucket, Allen street, Moody, and Centralville bridges over the Merrimack while if this bill goes through the county will be obliged to help to the extent of 40 per cent.

Recently Senator Hibbard learned from apparently good sources that while the Essex county commissioners had completed the work in that county in a manner satisfactory to the highway commissioners the Middlesex county commissioners had not done

MOTHER ARRESTED

Said to Have Confessed to Having Murdered Her Child

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Jan. 14.—Out-spied by the telegraph, recognized by her photograph and identified by her luggage, Mrs. Edith Melber of Schenectady, was arrested in the railroad station here yesterday afternoon and charged with the murder of her son, George, 5 years old, who was found frozen in a swamp near Albany last Tuesday with stains of acid at his lips. Less than an hour later she had confessed to murdering the child. The woman shivered when she saw the uniform of a policeman and under a fire of questions soon broke down.

Sobbing and shaking she told the whole horrible story. She gave her child carbolic acid to drink when he asked for water, she admitted, and left his body among the weeds.

Not all the facts bear out the alleged confession. The police believe there was a struggle although she denies forcing the lad to drink the poison. They say that on the woman's hand is an acid burn; that on her coat are flecks of dried saliva.

When her trunk was opened it was found to contain the woman's personal effects, a man's suit of clothing, and a bundle containing the dead boy's clothes.

Detective John Reed of Albany arrived here before the confession was made. Her maiden name, he said, was Gibeau and she comes of a respected family in Syracuse.

SLANDER SUIT

KILLED PRISONER

Police Officer's Aim Was True

LONDON, Jan. 14.—The unusual feature of a political slander suit is likely to enliven the coming session of parliament, for Winston Spencer Churchill, secretary for home affairs, has issued a writ claiming damages for defamation of character against a unionist orator, T. E. Spencer. The alleged slander was uttered in speeches made by Mr. Spencer at Devonshire during the recent campaign.

According to reliable information Alfred J. Balfour has succeeded in suppressing a revolt in a section of the unionist party, of which he is the leader against his adoption of the referendum as a permanent plank in the unionist policy. It is understood that Mr. Balfour threatened to resign the leadership of the party unless this course was approved whereupon the discontented members yielded. Meanwhile, however, several committees have been appointed to investigate the electoral organization of the unionist party in order to discover the remediable defects in it.

"BIG DUTCH"

IS CHARGED WITH A NUMBER OF BURGLARIES

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 14.—Frank Miller, alias "Big Dutch," who was arrested here, charged with a number of burglaries committed in Yonkers, N. Y., was last night identified by postal inspectors as Frank Fisher who, they say, is one of the most notorious safe breakers, post office robbers and vagabonds in the country.

Post Office Inspector Spofford, and Jennings, of the Maine district arrived here last night and will testify to a number of post office robberies in Maine and Massachusetts which they say Fisher committed.

SUPREME COURT

SENATORS IN FAVOR OF MORE COMMODIOUS QUARTERS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—A movement was started in the senate yesterday looking to the establishment of more commodious chambers for the chief justice and associate justices of the supreme court of the United States. It was proposed that all of the old library space in the center of the capitol building be devoted to the uses of the court.

Senator Bailey condemned the "beggarly chambers devoted to the highest tribunal." He said that lawyers seeking writs of certiorari new are compelled to invade the homes of the individual members of the court, because of the poor chambers supplied.

Members of the committee on rules, under the leadership of Senators Bacon and Bailey, will undertake to effect the change suggested.

HEAVY DAMAGE

AYER

Two girls, who were preparing to run away to join a circus, were apprehended at the Union station at Ayer yesterday by Chief of Police Beatty and Officer W. J. Mullin. Just before the train which they were going to take arrived, the fathers of the girls were notified and took them back to their homes in a neighboring town.

THE FIRE DRILL

Saved 225 Deaf and Dumb Children

NEW YORK, Jan. 14.—Perfect drill saved 225 deaf and dumb children from fire last night, when flames broke out in the upper stories of the Institution for the Improved Instruction of Deaf Mutes, while the 20 instructors were all at supper in the basement. There was no panic and there were no injuries, but the heat and smoke pressed the rear guard hard, and the police and bystanders fled with each other in helping the last comers to the street.

All orders were given by sign.

Mabel Stone, deaf mute, gave the alarm. Two passers-by who had seen the roof ablaze, rushed into the hall, way so excited that they forgot where they were, and shouted "Fire." The word woke no response in Mabel. Then they realized, and carried her to the street. One look was enough for her. She rushed to the basement, words fluttering from her fingers. Superintendant Taylor rose with one brief sentence:

"Teachers, you know your duties," he said, and the drill began.

PALMER ST., BASEMENT

SPIRIT OF RIVALRY

Among Nations is Promoted by Vast Armaments, Says Tawney

NEW YORK, Jan. 14.—Emphatic opposition to the fortification of the Panama canal urged by President Taft, by Representative David J. Foster, chairman of the house committee on foreign affairs, and a declaration by Chairman Tawney of the house appropriations committee that great armaments were a temptation toward war, marked a joint mass meeting of the New York Peace society and the People's Institute, held here last night.

The vast armaments tend to promote a spirit of rivalry among nations, to excel each other, said Mr. Tawney.

"When it was heralded about the world that England had launched a battleship of 18,000 tons, 3,000 tons in excess of our then largest battleship, it seemed advisable to submit to congress a supplemental estimate for a 20,000-ton battleship. As a conclusive argument in support of the authorization of such a ship our chief executive at that time (Theodore Roosevelt) said to me:

"I want to be able to say when I go out of office that I have authorized the construction of the biggest battleship the world has ever seen."

Although congress at that time did nothing more than authorize the preparation of plans for a battleship of that size, at its next session, under the pressure of a manufactured Japanese war scare, it provided for the ships. But before the adjournment of congress, England laid the keels of two 23,000-ton dreadnaughts and in order to gratify a personal and national ambition to excel England, congress authorized the construction of two battleships of 26,000 tons displacement.

Mr. Tawney's subject was "The Cost of Armed Peace."

"Instead of being a guarantee of

"With the nations of the earth agreeing to our rules of neutrality, the fortification of the canal would be not only unnecessary but a crime against civilization and criminal expenditure of the people's money," said Representative Foster. Mr. Foster argued that as future generations must bear the burden of maintaining the canal, it was right that they should be considerate in the fortification problem. The revenues of the canal were doubtful; he believed, in view of the railroad across the Isthmus of Tehuantepec, already a strong and successful competitor of the proposed fortifications.

The initial cost of fortifications would be $50,000,000, he thought, and in maintaining them $5,000,000 annually would be expended, adding to the perpetual burden which fortifications would impose."

He further considered that fortifications established at great cost might prove utterly useless in a few years in view of aviation development.

"Within a decade," he said, "it will be possible for an enemy to send from a battleship an airship which, sailing 10,000 feet above the earth could drop an explosive capable of utterly annihilating the proposed fortifications."

"The United States navy," the speaker declared, "can furnish more adequate defense for the canal than any fortification we could possibly construct."

He concluded with the declaration that if the United States carried out its policy of neutralization of the canal, the world would join hands for its protection, and its safety would be guaranteed forever and forevermore."

LOWELL OPERA HOUSE

The Augusta Perry company will conclude its engagement here at the Opera House with today's matinee and evening performance, presenting for the afternoon bill, "The Street Singer's Revenge" and tonight a laughable comedy drama, "My Wife Won't Let Me." Prices for this engagement are 10 cents to all parts of the house for the matinee and 10 and 25 cents at night.

FAIR STAR COMING

When Joseph F. Sheehan, the great tenor, brings his company to the Opera House next Tuesday, Jan. 17, for a performance of "Il Trovatore" it will be the last opportunity of hearing this wonderful artist for some time, as Mr. Sheehan's contracts for the next two years call for his exclusively appearance in Chicago and New York, and in order to make this farewell tour a memorable one he has brought together an excellent company for a performance of that popular opera "Il Trovatore."

It has long been known that the role of "Manrico" in "Il Trovatore" is the greatest in Mr. Sheehan's repertoire of over 100 operas. No other living tenor, not even Caruso, rates the high "C" at the end of the "Il quinto pia," the grand finale scene. He has sung this one role over 500 times.

The rest of his all star cast has been selected, each and everyone, as being the best in the country for the roles assigned to them.

Elaine De Selles, the eminent French contralto, has made a special study of the role of "Azucena," and her interpretation of the character, as well as her beautiful voice, has caused a sensation since her arrival in this country.

Grace Nelson, the prima donna soprano, is by voice and temperament especially fitted for the role of "Leonora."

Louis LaVale, the famous English baritone from the Royal Opera, London, England, has no superior as the "Count di Luna" and so on down the list; even the minor parts are taken by artists who rank high in their profession.

The chorus is the best voiced and trained of any ever heard in a Sheehan company, and that is saying a great deal.

The scenic production and electrical effects will be of the finest, and all indications point that the Opera House will not be able to hold all who will try to hear this great company.

MADAME X

Following the close of the Boston engagement Madame X will be seen here at the Opera House. It is expected now that the Lowell engagement will be for three days, although it is possible it may be for only two.

SEVEN DAYS

Manager Ward of the Opera House is in receipt of contracts for the appearance here for two performances of "Seven Days," the comedy hit that has just closed a run of several months at the Park theatre, Boston.

MARIE CAHILL

One of the notable features of Marie Cahill's "July Forget" company is the famous Judy chorus of six young girls, not one of which was ever on the stage professionally until engaged by Daniel V. Arthur for Miss Cahill.

These young ladies are all under 20 years of age. They were chosen for their singing ability and physical attractiveness, and Mr. Arthur had them trained especially for the many dancing numbers. So great has been the success of the Judy chorus that Mr. Arthur declares he will never make use of the typical "show girl" again.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

There will be another of those popular sacred concert programs presented at three complete concerts Sunday at the Merrimack Square Theatre. There will be the usual matinee at 3 o'clock and two evening performances, at 7 and 9 o'clock respectively.

The bill is one which is sure to interest patrons and which is in entire keeping with the day. It will include many who have never appeared in Lowell before, among them Miss Grace LaVeda and Charles Frazer. A list of moving pictures films will include all the newest and best obtainable. Seats for the concerts are now on sale at the box office.

A glance at next week's program at the theatre is all that is necessary to give patrons an idea of the unusually high class entertainment to be presented. It may be said, however, that it is expected to be the best bill yet presented at this house.

Heading the program are Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Mann, those popular "way down Maize folks," presenting an original pastoral comedy, playlet called "Mandy Hawkins." Both Mr. and Mrs. Mann are well known to followers of vaudeville all over the east, as character artists of unusual powers, while the little play in which they are to appear here is said to be one of the strongest and most delightful bits of its kind on any of the circuits today.

Mr. and Mrs. Mann carry all their own scenery and the presentation is marked by some unusual electrical effects. It is one of the best sketches presented in Lowell for many, many months.

Those who follow vaudeville will also catch at the name of Gilbert Losse, the soloist and comedian. Mr. Losse is familiar to audiences all over this section of the country through his former appearance with Lew Dockstader's minstrels. He is now in vaudeville and comes to this city as "the fashion plate comedian" in an offering which is sure to enhance his reputation and delight his audiences.

week's bill include the Four Everett, acrobats and equilibrists; Archer and Carr, singing and talking comedians, and Harrington and Millard, a pair of songsters who are sure to please.

There will also be a carefully selected series of the best moving pictures. On Monday night, the theatre orchestra will give another of those popular 15-minute concerts, this time from L'Amoura.

COLONIAL THEATRE

Those who have not seen the vaudeville and pictures being shown at the Colonial for the last half of this week are missing a real treat. Roser's wonderfully trained dogs; the Great De Forest, a female impersonator; Mason and Burke in a dramatic act, and the Gattland Sisters, who help make up a good bill close their engagement tonight.

Tomorrow there will be a sacred concert at which six acts of vaudeville as well as tour reels of pictures will be seen.

For the first half of next week another good show is promised.

The feature act will be Onthark & Blacheeta, a team of acrobats who make a specialty of jumping up stairs on their heads; Loring Parquet and a company of four in a vaudeville farce, "The Gibson Girl." Those kids, singing, dancing and comedy artists, and Arthur Pipin, musical comedian, will be the others to entertain.

THEATRE VOYONS

"The Italian Barber," a biograph subject, is the feature of today's program at the Theatre Voyons and it goes big and deserves every bit of its popularity. "An Intrigue" is a pleasing dramatic subject well staged and finely costumed, and the comedy "Love Under Difficulties" is a genuine laugh. "The Funeral of Count Tolstoi" is an interesting news picture and one most impressive as it shows the burial of this great Russian in the forest as was his wish.

Tomorrow there will be the usual excellent Sunday program will be given and the pictures will be unapproachable in quality, newness and variety.

The musical features are of the best and all are well given.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC

Today will be the last chance to see the great educated horse, "Col. Fred," and you surely will find it worth while witnessing his act, which includes many new tricks. Other acts on the bill are Mary Davis, singing comedian, and Bessie Bill & Co. in a comedy sketch, entitled "An Interrupted Performance." A sacred concert will be given on Sunday. Miss May E. Whiteley, the well known soprano, has been added to the singing staff of this house and will be heard in a selected solo on Sunday.

STRONG OPPOSITION

Anti-Lodge Men Were Active at the Republican Conference

BOSTON, Jan. 14.—The republican members of the legislature who went into Representative Russell Wood's "fair play" conference on the United States senatorship yesterday proved that the democrats are no stronger than they in the talk line.

For two hours and a half yesterday afternoon after the adjournment of the legislature champions of Lodge and Ames discussed the senatorship and the issues in the contest.

They adjourned without having accomplished much beyond an exchange of well known views.

The Lodge men, led by White of Brookline, Underhill of Somerville, Cushing of Boston, Wolcott of Milton and Washburn of Worcester, went into the Wood "fair play" conference to have some fun with the young Cambridge anti-Lodge republicans who had sent out the call for the meeting, and were doing a very fair job of it until Cogswell of Lynn and Greenwood of Everett, also anti-Lodge, told them that the joshing game would have to stop as they came there for a serious purpose.

After Representative Wolcott had nominated Washburn for chairman and the latter had declined and in turn nominated Cushing, who also refused to stand on the ground that he had to leave town on an early train, Mr. Wood was made chairman of his own meeting.

The Ames and anti-Lodge men were well down front at the meeting. They had not mended their words. Some of them talked like real democrats in denouncing Mr. Lodge, the special interests, the tariff, robbery and the possessors of predatory wealth.

Washburn Defends Lodge

Representative Crane of Cambridge started the serious speech making, saying that he would like to hear from Representative Washburn of Worcester, a man who cannot be coerced.

Representative Washburn said he had not meant to be flippancy in declining the chair. He had felt for months that the legislature should re-elect Henry Cabot Lodge. The members had no right to vote on this question.

Representative Barlow whether Mr. Lodge is to be re-elected Senator Crane and President Taft would not have to be repudiated also, because their records are just the same.

Mr. White and Cape Cod

Mr. Barlow said that perhaps he was not as familiar with the records of the men as he should be. He had heard very little against Mr. Crane, there was a little against President Taft, but there was an enormous lot against Mr. Lodge. "I do believe," continued Mr. Barlow, "that whether his record is right or wrong, it makes no difference so far as the welfare of our party and state is concerned."

Representative Underhill of Somerville asked if the gentlemen really believed that the same feeling exists today as at the time of the election, and it so how he accounted for the ballots on the Cape.

Mr. Barlow said that he was informed that after the representative from Providence had sent out his 1800 letters asking for an expression of popular opinion that Mr. White of Brookline went down to the Cape and interviewed the voters, causing them to sign requests to their representatives to vote for Senator Lodge.

Mr. Underhill asked if assuming that there had been a change of sentiment.

Mr. Barlow thought that a foolish question to ask.

Representative Underhill suggested that the old saying might be applicable to the change of sentiment of the people. "You can fool some of the people all the time; you can fool all of the people some of the time; but you can't fool all of the people all of the time."

Representative Barlow came back quick with "The people last fall seemed to indicate that they had been fooled all the time." He acknowledged that he was for Mr. Ames first, but that whoever it might be, they should unite on somebody to defeat Senator Lodge.

AT CRYSTAL LAKE B. & M. BOWLERS

Many Men Await a Cold Snap
Were Defeated by the New Haven Men

Fletcher's quarry at North Chelmsford has shut down on account of the weather and the accompanying poor business, and the quarry workers are waiting for the ice to get to the necessary depth on Crystal Lake so that the Boston Ice company will start cutting ice. The company cuts when the ice gets a thickness of 12 inches and it has reached that this season, though before the company could get busy the snow came and now it is ten inches thick or two inches below the required minimum of cutting.

The Boston Ice company employs about 300 men when cutting ice and most of them are employees of Fletcher's and the neighboring quarries, and it generally happens that shortly after the quarries shut down for the winter the ice business starts up so that the quarrymen go to work cutting ice and are idle but a short time. This year, however, on account of the unusual weather, the quarry men are idle and all are praying for a cold snap.

THE TRACK TEAM

OF LOWELL HIGH SCHOOL GETTING INTO SHAPE RAPIDLY

The members of the Lowell High school track team are showing up well in practice and are rapidly developing into fine shape. The season will open during the latter part of the month and it is expected that Lowell will have as clever a bunch of athletes as ever represented the school.

The call for candidates was made several weeks ago and scores have reported for try-outs. Twice each week the members have met at the high school annex and under the direction of Dr. Fordyce Coburn have been put through a systematic series of stunts.

Captain Leggat, Sullivan, Fraser, Spalding, Carter and Donahue are some of the older runners who will undoubtedly find places on the team. There were more than fifty candidates at the annex yesterday and for two hours worked hard.

PATSY KLINE

WAS OUTPOINTED BY CHAMPION ABE ATTELL

NOW YORK, Jan. 14.—Abe Attell, the featherweight champion, outpointed Patsy Kline of Newark in a sharp 10 round fight at the National Sporting Club of America last night. Kline kept after Attell throughout the fight and took a lot of punishment in his endeavor to land a knockout blow. But Attell's clever footwork and ducking caused many of Kline's vicious swings to go wild. In the clinches Attell pummeled the Newark boy's kidneys severely. Both boys were fighting steadily when the bell rang.

FIRST PHOTOS OF SENSATIONAL FIGHT IN LONDON BETWEEN ANARCHISTS AND AUTHORITIES

LONDON, Jan. 14.—The recent affair between anarchist mutinies largely to the spectacular manner in which it occurred. The men killed were operators of a bomb factory in Houndsditch, who killed three London policemen on the night of Dec. 6. The Hon. Winston Churchill hurried to the point in Sidney street opposite the house where the fugitives had concealed themselves and directed the attack for a considerable period, exposing himself daringly to the dangerous fire of the criminals, who armed with Mauser rifles put up a desperate defense. Thousands of rounds of ammunition were fired in the fray. The anarchist, hidden in an upper room, kept up their firing through the windows until caught and consumed in the flames started by the police to drive them out into the open. The accompanying photos are the first to reach this country.

of the Brooklyns can be secured. It is said that Pitcher Cannitt may be offered an even swap for Hell Manager Daniels, however, thinks that Second services of his big boxman are needed at Washington park.

John McGraw says that Second

Baseman Earl Gardner of the Highlanders is one of the most natural fielders he has ever seen. Gardner was bothered by a weak ankle practically all of last year and could not do himself justice. He reports in first class condition at Athens Gardner will probably be the regular second baseman, otherwise Jack Knight will play that position. It is understood that if Gardner can play second base regularly Manager Chase will try Knight at third base until he has learned whether Outs Johnson has quality enough to cover short field permanently. If Johnson fails to make good then Knight will go back to his old place, while Elliott and Austin will fight it out for third place. It is safe to say that Daniels will play centre field regularly this year, with Clegg in left and Wolter in right. That is the combination Chase has been figuring on ever since last fall. With the present well seasoned material in hand Chase will have comparatively few experiments to make.

During the recent National league meeting in this city August Herrmann advocated a newfangled schedule which would limit the playing season in each major league to 112 games, to be followed by an interleague series in which all of the big teams would meet one another. M. Stanley Robinson of the St. Louis Cardinals now says that he is the originator of this plan and predicts that it will be adopted next year. Mr. Robinson in advocating the plan shows that in at least four of the eight cities in each league interest in the pennant race is practically dead after the season is half over. But under the proposed arrangement he points out that with added attractions these "all end" cities would enjoy renewed business. Mr. Robinson, in an illustration of the unfairness of the present schedules, shows that because the Detroit team finished four points ahead of the Clevelanders in 1908 the Detroit owners reaped a fortune and their players received a lot of extra money, while Cleveland's owners and players received no extra reward for their long, hard fight, which was nullified by one adverse decision in a game at St. Louis. Mr. Robinson says that an interleague series would provide sixteen cash prizes, with a little money even for the teams that finished at the tail end of the procession. He points out that "one league" cities like Cincinnati, Pittsburgh, Cleveland, Washington and Brooklyn would welcome the chance to see the teams in the other league. It is said that Mr. Harriman will try to convert Ban Johnson to the scheme and that if the American league's president can be convinced favorably the major leagues will both swing in line, at least for one year.

Mr. Herrmann's suggestion to the National commission to change a rule so that drafted and purchased players cannot be turned back to the minor leagues until both major leagues have waived claim has not been adopted as yet, but as President Lynch is strongly in favor of the plan it is believed that it will soon go into effect. If the rule had been adopted a month ago the Highlanders, for instance, could not have released Mitchell, Foster and Hughes to Rochester until all of the National league clubs had refused to take advantage of the waiver rule.

BOXING GOSSIP

Once more New England promoters begin to realize the value of Tommy Sullivan as an attraction. The Lawrence man has received more offers the past few days than he received at any time in the year which has just past.

E. W. Hanks, one of the two promoters of New England, figures on securing Tommy for a big show to be held in City hall, Augusta, Me., early in February. Hanks in his telegram to Sullivan, who is training at Eastington, Pa., names Jimmy Gardner of Lowell as his adversary for the big entertainment.

Hanks tells Sullivan that he will run special trials from all parts of the state to take an active interest in boxing in the immediate future, and has started card for next Monday evening, Dave Deshler and Kid Shea will meet in the main bout Jan. 16, the distance being scheduled for ten rounds, and a decision will be rendered. Shea's correct name is Colby McGowan and he made quite a reputation as an amateur boxer when he was a resident of South Boston. Shea and Deshler recently met at Fall River and most press reports stated that Shea had a lead. There will be three preliminaries to the Shea-Deshler bout.

Thomas is training hard. He is already in good shape. Several days of hard training have been put in by Thomas in preparation for his bout with Tom Sawyer, which will be decided in Portland tonight.

With a special train from Lawrence, carrying Sullivan's friends to the ring side, and followers of the game from Nashua, Lowell, Laconia, Franklin, Concord, Dover, Milford, Neverill and other places crowding to the ringside, the indications are that one of the biggest crowds in the history of boxing in Manchester will be present.

Jack Johnson, who is in New York for a day or two, denies that he has a secret understanding with Al Kaufman to fight in London under Hugh McIntosh's management, but, at the same time he says Kaufman is the best heavyweight in the world barring himself, of course. Johnson declares that Kaufman would "eat up" such men as Jeannette, McVey and Sam Langford, simply because of his superior knowledge of boxing and his splendid physique. As for Bill Lang of Australia, Johnson says that Kaufman can beat that gentleman in a few rounds, maybe half a dozen.

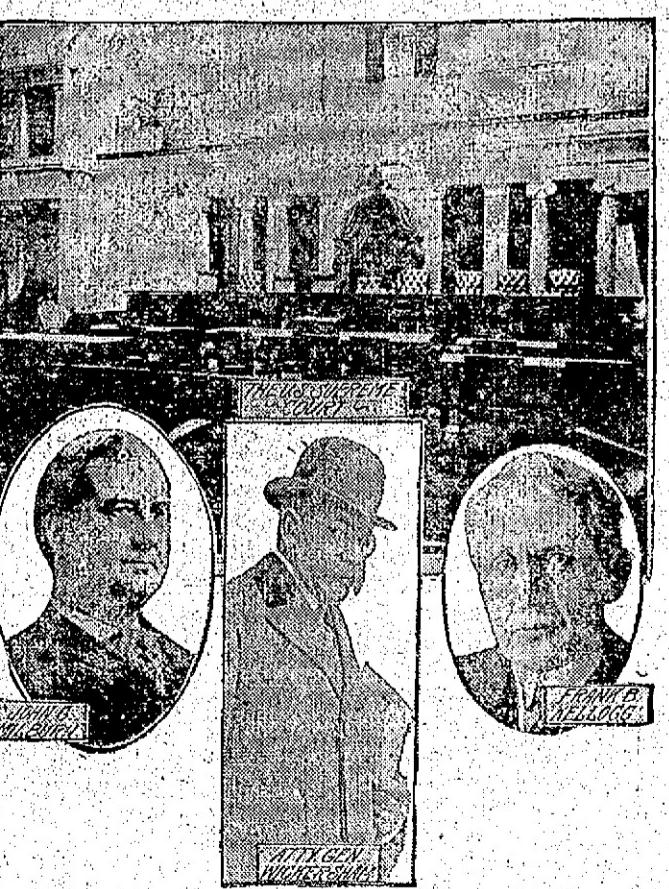

"I don't believe Al Kaufman wants to fight me," says the heavyweight champion. "He is here to challenge me recently just to boost his show, and I don't think he will be ready to talk business for a long time. But whenever he is ready I am. No, there wouldn't be any interest in a fight between me and Langford because as I said some time ago two negroes will not draw. That's why I think in time there'll be enough interest in a fight between me and Kaufman to get a big purse. If Kaufman won't fight I hope this fellow Morris out in Oklahoma will amount to something. I'd like to lick just one more white man before I retire. But I've got to get my price, remember before I get into the ring with anybody."

"That story about doping Misty Jeffries makes me laugh. He wasn't done up until I knocked him down a couple of times in the ring. Then he didn't know where he was. Sensible fellows who were out at Reno will tell you that the dope story is a joke. Would I fight Jeff again? In a minute. But just remember that Jeff is thorough from the ring forever. He doesn't want to get hit again even if you offered him $100,000. I'm too old, or dray, and that's a whole lot of money. How much did I make out of the Reno fight?"

"Ad" Wolgast is once more appearing in a hold-up act. After agreeing on terms for his match with George Mansie at Los Angeles Feb. 22, he now demands an additional $250 from Promoter Tom McCauley for training expenses. McCauley raised a howl, but the chances are that he will agree to give the additional $250.

Packer McFarland will do his preliminary training for his bout with Jack Goodman at a读后感 on Jerome avenue, New York. McFarland and Goodman are scheduled to meet for ten rounds at the National A. A. New York, Tuesday evening, Jan. 17.

STANDARD OIL COMPANY IN FIGHT FOR ITS LIFE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—The government's case against the Standard Oil company has come up on appeal in the supreme court of the United States. Should a decision adverse to the company be given the giant combine must be dissolved, and the company is making a desperate attempt to prevent such an outcome, having retained some of the leading corporation lawyers in the country to make its defense. John G. Milburn of New York, counsel for the New York Stock Exchange, opened the case for the company. It will be followed by Frank B. Kellogg for the government. D. T. Watson of Pittsburgh will then speak for the oil con-

Morris scored four hard knockdowns before he put Kennedy to sleep with a heavy right-hand swing to the point of the jaw. Kennedy was out for several minutes. Morris was wildly cheered by a large crowd as he left the ring. His next match will probably be with Jim Flynn, the Pueblo Freeman, at Tulsa, Okla.

The Hyde Park A. C. of Boston intends to take an active interest in boxing in the immediate future, and has started card for next Monday evening, Dave Deshler and Kid Shea will meet in the main bout Jan. 16, the distance being scheduled for ten rounds, and a decision will be rendered. Shea's correct name is Colby McGowan and he made quite a reputation as an amateur boxer when he was a resident of South Boston. Shea and Deshler recently met at Fall River and most press reports stated that Shea had a lead. There will be three preliminaries to the Shea-Deshler bout.

In the meantime he is pegging away hard in Philadelphia, at the Esplanade training camp with a corps of the best handlers and sparring partners in the Quaker city for his bout with Joe Thomas.

Thomas is training hard. He is already in good shape. Several days of hard training have been put in by Thomas in preparation for his bout with Tom Sawyer, which will be decided in Portland tonight.

Matty Baldwin says his arm that was injured in his bout with Battling Hurley does not bother him while he is going through his training stunts, and claims that he will be in tip-top shape when he faces Fal Moore at the Armory A. A. Tuesday night. Baldwin has an excellent chance to get a decision over Moore, and, judging from the showing that Moore has made recently against men who were somewhere near his own weight, the Charlestown boxer should rule favorite, as he is a fighter from the top of the song.

Gardner-Martin Bout Shifted

The match between Jimmy Gardner and Terry Martin, which was scheduled for New Bedford next Tuesday night, will take place Wednesday night instead, and the scene of the bout has been shifted from New Bedford to Fall River. The Colonia club of Fall River, the Colonists, will have the opportunity to secure the match when the managers of the boxers and one of the directors of the New Bedford club could not agree upon arrangements.

Tommy Sullivan, of Lawrence, received an offer to meet Hugo Kelly Feb. 22 at Jack O'Brien's new club house in Philadelphia. Sullivan, who is training just outside Philadelphia, accepted the offer and Kelly is yet to be heard from. Before that match is arranged Sullivan will take on Joe Thomas at Manchester, N. H. The Lawrence boxer has sent word from Philadelphia that he will be on hand at the Armory A. A. Friday, January 20, to take part in the benefit to be tendered Johnny Nelden.

Tommy Burns has once more changed his mind about retiring from the ring and has cabled Hugh McIntosh his acceptance of an offer of $12,500 for his end in a match with Bill Lang, to be held at McIntosh's club in London. Burns defeated Lang when they fought in Australia, but Lang has improved since then.

Jeanetto Shows Some Marks

Other than a pair of black eyes and a slight cut on the nose, Joe Jeanetto did not receive any facial marks in his bout with Langford. But the injuries he did receive were enough, and it is doubtful if Joe agrees to box Sam again for many moons to come. Sam is around town wearing a golden smile, but gives Jeanetto credit for being the greatest man he ever fought.

"Ad" Wolgast is once more appearing in a hold-up act. After agreeing on terms for his match with George Mansie at Los Angeles Feb. 22, he now demands an additional $250 from Promoter Tom McCauley for training expenses. McCauley raised a howl, but the chances are that he will agree to give the additional $250.

Packer McFarland will do his preliminary training for his bout with Jack Goodman at a读后感 on Jerome avenue, New York. McFarland and Goodman are scheduled to meet for ten rounds at the National A. A. New York, Tuesday evening, Jan. 17.

JOHNNY SUMMERS

LONDON, Jan. 14.—The next big pugilistic battle of importance will be the 20 round battle between Harry Lewis of Philadelphia, who claims the welterweight championship of the world, and Johnny Summers, England's best. The contest is scheduled to be held at Hugh McIntosh's club on Jan. 26. Experts here figure that Summers will niche Lewis extend himself to the limit to win, as he has improved wonderfully within the last few months. Summers was formerly a lightweight, but increasing weight forced him to enter the ranks of the welterweights. Lewis recently defeated Tom Lancaster of this city at the Wagram club in Jingate. He is considered to be one of the best men that ever held the title.

NUMEROUS MEASURES PAROCHIAL SCHOOLS

Were Filed With Clerks of Senate and House Today

BOSTON, Jan. 14.—Petitions, bills and resolutions asking all sorts of legislation from direct nominations to regulating the length of hats pins raised down on the clerks of the senate and house today as the banner against new matters closed at 5 p. m. today.

Any citizen of the commonwealth has the privilege of petitioning through some member of the legislature, and although the closing time for new business was a week shorter this year than ever before there was no indication at noon today that the amount of material dumped into the legislative hopper would be any less than last year, in fact the chances seemed in favor of more matters. With a fairly strong republican senate and house and a democratic governor, close observers at the state house predict less actual results than in many years.

The leading direct nomination bill was introduced today by Speaker Joseph Walker, one of the champions of the movement, in this state, a candidate for governor next fall and already "mentioned" as a successor to Senator Lodge.

Mr. Walker's bill provides for direct nominations for all offices and for party conventions to frame and promulgate platforms and elects state committees. The bill has a referendum attachment.

Major John F. Fitzgerald of Boston is particularly insistent for modification of provisions applying to Boston, and authority to carry on different lines of work in which legislature approval is necessary.

Many bills, liquor bills, labor bills, railroad bills and game bills are included in the long list of matters that have come in from different parts of the state, while the annual woman's suffrage agitation appears this year on the petition of the American Federation of Labor instead of the suffrage league.

Fire Caused Alarm in Chicago Hotels and Theatres

CHICAGO, Jan. 14.—Fire in a four-story building on Madison street last night caused alarm in two nickel theatres and two hotels in the vicinity.

The audiences in both theatres were quickly dismissed and many guests in the Morrison and Grant hotels rushed into the street. No one was injured.

The loss was about $150,000, the most of which was suffered by the Alexander Casaric company, gold and silver refiners.

GOLDEN WEDDING

Observed by Mr. and Mrs. Racicot

Mr. and Mrs. Henri Alphonse Racicot of this city are today observing the 50th anniversary of their marriage.

Fifty years ago today, that is Jan. 14, 1861, Mr. H. A. Racicot and Miss Emile Joubert were united in marriage in the parochial church of St. Jean d'Iberville, Que. Four years later, on Aug. 15, 1855, the young couple emigrated to this city, where they have lived ever since, occupying the house numbered 317 Middlesex street. They were among the pioneer founders of St. Joseph's parish, and Mr. Racicot was the organizer of the first choir of the church and choirmaster for 22 consecutive years, then resigning it. After a few years he again took the direction of the choir and filled the position of choirmaster from 1899 to 1905, when he again resigned.

Two years ago, when Notre Dame de Lourdes parish was founded, Rev. Fr. Dubreuil, O. M. I., pastor of the church, asked Mr. Racicot to organize a choir and take its direction, and Mr. Racicot accepted, for said he: "It was hard to get in of a choir-singing and directing, but after being at it for 25 years, he has been choirmaster there since the church opened."

The venerable couple are well known and held in high esteem in this city, where they count a host of friends. Today's observance has been very quiet, owing to Mrs. Racicot's feeble health, the family only participating in the rejoicing of the day.

Mr. Racicot was born in Burlington, Vt., July 4, 1841. He is a carriage painter by trade and is now carrying on this business at 35 Willie street.

Today is a double event for Mrs. Racicot, for she is also celebrating her 72nd anniversary of birth, being born in St. Jean d'Iberville, Que., Jan. 14, 1839.

Mr. and Mrs. Racicot had eight children, six of whom are living, namely: Arthur A. of Lowell, Josie of Malden, Mass., Mrs. Diana Gellieau and Misses Laura and Lea Racicot of Lowell.

MATRIMONIAL

Thursday afternoon Miss Edith Young, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Young of this city was uniting in marriage to Mr. George L. Willett of Panama, formerly of this city. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. W. Thomas at the bride's grandmother's home in Ayer. The bride was becomingly gowned in white and carried bride's roses. Miss Dorcas Scrutton, a cousin of the bride, was bridesmaid and was attired in white. Mr. William Scrutton was best man.

A short reception was held after the ceremony and then Mr. and Mrs. Willett left on the 6:18 train for New York, from which port they sail for their faraway home in Panama, where Mr. Willett holds a very lucrative position, that of district sanitary inspector.

THE LOWELL OWLS

Again announce that a special dispensation has been granted them, and candidates will be admitted for $5 and $1 for medical examination.

Are you thinking of getting out a little insurance policy? Just stop and think a moment what the Owl will do, and are doing, for their members for the 16 month.

All legitimate death claims and sick benefits promptly paid. Every Owl more than satisfied. What do you think about this? A $100 death claim. $7.00 per week for 13 weeks. $3.50 a week for 13 weeks more as sick benefits. Isn't that a good investment? Isn't that a nice little insurance?

The age limit is 15 and 50 years. Give your name to any good Owl that you know. Come and see any one of our four doctors, and if they say that you are all right physically, come to the Owl's nest, Elks hall. Come and get a little inspiration at our big harmonious, enthusiastic meetings. Don't miss this opportunity while the charter is open.

St. Joseph's Convent School--Its History and Its Work

If you go up Moody street as far as Spaulding street you will see a large brick structure which sets back some 7 feet from the sidewalk. It is known as St. Joseph's convent. This school is for girls only. It is the only one of its kind in this city and the largest one in New England. It was erected in 1883 under the supervision of the late Fr. Garin, O. M. I. At that time both the boys and girls attended school in that building, but the number of scholars increased so rapidly that some 15 years ago the college on Merrimack street was built for the boys. The schoolhouse contained 15 class rooms, a basement and a large gathering hall on the upper floor where entertainments were held often, previous to the erection of the college. Since that time four additional rooms in the upper hall and three in the basement were built and three in the basement were built. The number of girls has so increased in St. Joseph's parish that at the present time two classes are held in a cottage house opposite the main school on Moody street, and three in the new schoolhouse in Pawtucketville. The Grey Nuns of the Cross are in charge. They number 22, counting two who have charge of the little boys from 5 to 7 years, who attend the school on Merrimack street next to St. Jean Baptiste church, and three who are conducting the Notre Dame de Lourdes school in Branch street. In St. Joseph's convent the scholars are taught English, French, mathematics and geography. At the last diocesan examinations held in the last month under the supervision of Rev. Fr. Lyons of Boston, St. Joseph's convent came out with the highest percentage for English studies. These examinations comprised all the parochial schools, both French and English, in the Boston diocese. There are a few English speaking children who attend the French schools. Among them is a little six year old Irish girl, who has been going to the Pawtucketville school for the past four months. When she entered the school she did not know A in French; now she speaks the language fluently and still retains her English knowledge.

The superior of the convent is Rev. Sister McMillan, who celebrated her golden jubilee last November. The past superiors to the incumbent have been: Rev. Sister Plante, now superior at Plattsburg, N. Y.; Rev. Sister St. Therese, superior of the orphanage at Ogdensburg, N. Y.; Rev. Sister St. Raphael, now in the mother house in Ottawa; Rev. Sister St. Félix, now superior at L'Orignal, Que.; Rev. Sister St. Marie de la Victoire, now at the mother house and Rev. Sister St. Raphael, superior at Sudbury, Ontario. Among the best graduates of the convent are: Dr. P. Brunelle, Dr. G. Omer Turcotte, Dr. J. G. Constantineau, Rev. Fr. Plouffe, O. M. I., Rev. Fr. Turcotte, O. M. I., Rev. Fr. Charette, Rev. Fr. Quimette, O. M. I., Rev. Fr. Chevallier, O. M. I., Rev. Fr. Carrier, O. M. I., Rev. Fr. Blais, O. M. I., Rev. Fr. J. Racicot, O. M. I., Rev. Fr. Howe Racicot, O. M. I. D. of Tewksbury, Wifred Gasse, Jr., co-proprietor of La Croix Rouge pharmacy, Majorine Cosselle, manager of a department in the Bon Marché, Frederick Lamoureux, manager of the H. C.

Girard hardware store, Homer L. P. Turcotte, of City Messenger Joseph Patte's staff, J. W. Paradis, Joseph Carrier of the A. G. Pollard Co., Omer Allard, registrar of voters, Joseph Choquette of Macartney's Apparel Shop, Albert Choquette, of Macartney's store of Lawrence, Edward Vallandry of Lynn, Arthur Valerand of Manchester, N. H., Lucien Turcotte, Georges E. Poirier of the Water Works office, Xavier Delisle of the Boston & Maine office of Boston, Arthur Desmarais, manager of Ziskind's foundry, Countman Henri Achin, Jr., Edelmar Desmarais, contracting plumber, Albert Allard, Joseph Constantineau, merchant; John Raymond, baker; James O'Flahavan, real estate, Frank Raymond, Elzear H. Hebert of Macartney's Apparel Shop; H. V. Charbonneau, attorney at law; Albert Blazon, attorney at law and principal assessor; Adelard Guindon of the Boston & Maine, Albert E. Jean, cashier of the Lowell Trust; E. J. Larocque and others.

Miss Blanchi, Gosselin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugène Gosselin, 12 Ley Avenue, the brightest scholar graduated from the convent in the past five years, she later graduated from the Lowell Commercial College and is now employed as bookkeeper for a local concern. Rev. Fr. Watelle, O. M. I., pastor of St. Joseph's parish stated to a representative of The Sun that a new home for the Sisters will be built in the early spring on the land occupied now by the old residence, which is too small to accommodate the 22 nuns now teaching in this city.

ALBERT E. O'HEIR

Purchases Y. M. C. A. Building in Hurd St. for $25,000

It appears that Albert E. O'Heir, the association will be ready for occupancy. Mr. O'Heir has paid a substantial amount of the purchase money and the articles of agreement have been duly made out and signed so that the sale is as certain as if the entire amount were paid.

The two lots included in the purchase of the Hurd street property are approximately 107 feet frontage and about the same in depth, containing about 11,500 square feet. The assessed value is 75 cents per square foot. The property on Hurd street is bound to undergo a very material increase in value within the near future owing to the great improvements to be made on Central street in that vicinity.

Mr. O'Heir is to be congratulated on this progressive step and upon the success which makes it necessary. He will erect upon the lot a modern and up-to-date block designed to provide every convenience for conducting thereon one of the largest furniture establishments in this part of the state.

THE CAPE COD CANAL

The seventeen lives lost on the Peaked Hills bar this week would have been saved if the Cape Cod canal were open to traffic. Already a mile of it has been excavated, and it is quite probable that another year will see the great work so far advanced that some ships can pass through. It is intended to have the canal wide enough and deep enough for war vessels to pass through.

During the great storm of December 15 quite a number of vessels took refuge in the canal while eleven vessels were wrecked off the cape.

The experiences of the past year have demonstrated most forcibly the great value of this canal, and have led a good many to inquire why it was not built before. It will help Boston, and Boston apparently needs commercial help to bring it up to what it should be as a port. At present it cannot compare in any respect to the port of New York in the volume of business and its importance as a terminal for great commercial lines.

THE SHIP SUBSIDY BILL

The republican policy of excessive protection has produced a vast crop of evils, and the queer feature of the situation is that while the fiscal policy produces trusts and combines, the government on the other hand persists in suing them as violators of the law. The high tariff protects the manufacturers from outside competition; their trusts are formed to boost prices and stamp out domestic competition. Thus the consumer gets fleeced by high prices on every hand with no hope of relief except a gradual reduction in the tariff. So high have prices been pushed that to build a ship in this country costs about twice as much as in Europe. It is plain that when the prices of the necessities of life are sent skyward, the working man must get higher wages in order to live at all. We mention the single matter of ships because there is talk now of passing a ship subsidy bill. In the first place the high tariff makes it unprofitable to build ships in this country and also makes the trade of such ships unprofitable. What is now proposed is to grant large subsidies in order to build up a merchant marine. There is little doubt that the combinations of organized wealth will take advantage of any such measure and defeat its purpose by turning the subsidies to their own private gain.

It appears, therefore, that the solution of the whole proposition resolves itself back to first principles of restoring competition by reducing the tariff so that the fictitious values now affixed to everything in this country may be overcome. It is time the government stopped passing laws to foster the trusts, while at the same time passing laws and engaging in expensive litigation to penalize the trusts. It is time the government policy were changed so that long established industries shall not be made the beneficiaries of government subsidies that enable them to extort exorbitant prices from the people for their products.

The plausible schemes by which the advocates of ship subsidies are endeavoring to promote their graft are quite transparent, and in this particular case are notable for their ingenuity in deceiving the people. The latest subsidy bill is described as one "to protect American trade and American shipping from foreign monopolies." Thanks to our high protective tariff foreign ships have a monopoly of our American trade. If the United States went to war tomorrow the government would not have American ships enough to serve as transports, because of the manner in which shippers have been put out of business by the excessive tariff put in force by the republican party.

DEMANDS FOR NEW CHARTERS

It is a somewhat strange coincidence that the cities of Lowell and Lawrence will appear before the legislature this year asking for new city charters and both cities choosing practically the same form of charter—a slight modification of the Des Moines instrument.

It is remarkable also that the practical politicians of both cities oppose this new form of charter. In both cities, too, there seems to be a very general willingness to cut away from party lines in municipal affairs in order to test the claims of those who insist that with the elimination of the party designation we can have better results in city politics. The friends of good government are willing to concur in any change of this kind, willing in fact to adopt any course that offers a reasonable guarantee of better government.

What the city of Lowell wants is a government that will conduct the city's business on business principles. The people are tired of the double-headed city council that results in so many wrangles, so many deadlocks and such discouraging delay of business. When both branches have got tired wrangling over any point of difference, they may come to an agreement that will be unacceptable to the mayor. Then comes the executive veto, causing more delay and more wrangling.

The provisions of the proposed charter as we understand it would completely stop all this nonsense. The mayor would not have the power of veto on the actions of the council of which he is a member. The council could conduct the city's business as a board of directors, sitting around a table and discussing in a business fashion what is best for the city's interest in every step taken. Although each member of the council will be assigned to look after one or more of the departments, yet he will be under the control of the entire body, so that there is still a guarantee of safety against any extravagance by an individual member. The presumption is, that the citizens would elect a more competent set of men to fill the five offices than they have been electing for the double-headed city council. The number to be chosen will be so small that every voter could easily find out the qualifications of the candidates and thus vote more intelligently. Moreover, the business could be done more promptly and very opportunity of doing a thing at the right time and in the right way could be taken advantage of with good results to the city.

Considerable objection is made to the small number of members to constitute the governing body. The number is large enough if it be made up of the right men. Of course if the voters should be untrue to themselves and elect five or even three weak or dishonest men to the council, the situation would be dangerous to the city. But the voters even then are not without a remedy, for they hold in their hand at all times the power of recall for any or all elected officials. That is a power that has not been provided for in any of the old city charters. It might never be required but it is well to have it in order to prevent officials from forgetting their duty. If the city council so chosen would refuse to enact any measure demanded by the people, then the voters and taxpayers through the referendum provided also in this charter could compel them to enact the measure or could enact it over their heads. Thus, then, it appears that under this new form of charter the people would have immeasurably greater power than they ever had under any of the old city charters and hence the talk of removing the power farther away from the people is sheer nonsense. The power is concentrated in the hands of the voters so that they can use it effectively whenever they please if the officials do not perform their duty properly. That is all the guarantee that any charter can offer, and in our opinion the voters should be anxious to get such power placed in their hands in order that they can hold the whip-hand at all times over their elected officials. At the present time a great many men are unwilling to run for public office because as things go most men are afraid to get mixed in the wrangles, the brawls and the charges that are inseparably connected with elections and office-holding generally. It is hoped that under the new charter the political atmosphere will be cleared and purified so that no man need be afraid of losing his reputation or his standing in the community by running for public office.

SEEN AND HEARD

He asked her hand in marriage and she told him to go to her father. Later he told the story of the proposal to some of her girl friends, and this is what she said:

"I told him to go to my father. I knew that he knew my father was dead."

I knew that he knew the life father had led.

And I knew that he knew what I meant when I said:

"Go to my father."

What doth it profit a man to gain office if he loses his honor?

There is considerable satisfaction, at times, in knowing that a girl doesn't mean all she says.

Did you ever hear a girl "go on" something like this: "I think that Gladys _____ is just too mean for anything. She is forever talking about somebody. If she isn't criticizing their clothes, she's criticizing their manners or something else. Her aunts are just the same. Her mother was not like that, but of course she was a half-dead-and-alive specimen anyway. But her aunts are the limit. They can talk faster than they chew gum and they are chewing gum the whole day long. I think they chew gum in their sleep. I have yet to see Gladys or one of her aunts with a decent dress and their hats are frights. Isn't it funny how some people never look tidy? Now, there's Belle _____. She has real good clothes. Of course they are old-fashioned; but she seems to have a way of putting them on that makes her look even more ridiculous than nature intended, and that's saying a good deal. Still, she's not as much to blame, perhaps, as some of those girls who put every cent on their back that they earn. Now take Josie _____. I know for an action fact that she has just half starved herself just because she is crazy about nice clothes. And then she never looks half decent. I've heard that little snipe Gladys criticize her, too."

There is a lad in Boston, the son of a well-known writer of history, who has evidently profited by such observations as he may have overheard his father utter touching certain phases of British empire-building. At any rate, the boy showed a shrewd notion of the opinion not infrequently expressed in regard to the righteousness of "British occupation." It was he who handed in the following essay on the making of a British colony:

"Africa is a British colony. I will tell you how England does it. First she gets a missionary; when the missionary has found a specially beautiful and fertile tract of country, he gets all his people round him and says:

"Let us pray," and when all the eyes shut, up goes the British flag."

THE LOCAL MILLS

Are Selling All the Goods That They Make

In an Associated press despatch from Boston yesterday, it was stated that the cotton manufacturers of the country are considering the advisability of adopting a drastic curtailment policy, because of expensive raw material and an indifferent goods policy.

Lowell mill agents, while aware of the almost prohibitive price of raw material and poor goods market, were not aware that the manufacturers were considering a curtailment policy.

The Lowell mills are running fairly full at the present time and are selling all the goods they make. For several weeks, during the very dry spell there were great many idle spindles in Lowell, because the Locks & Canals could afford to allow the mills only a limited amount of water. The recent rains, however, have made it possible for the Locks & Canals company to allow the mills all the water they want, so the result is the erstwhile idle spindles are now in operation.

A mill official, in conversation with a reporter for The Sun, yesterday, said:

"Few people in Lowell had any idea of the number of spindles that were idle in Lowell because of shortage of water. In one mill more than 1000 spindles were idle and in other mills the number of idle spindles averaged all the way from 200 to 600. Now, that there is plenty of water most of these spindles have been put in operation again and I think the mills are selling about all the goods they make. But, selling all they make doesn't mean that they are selling at a profit."

An official of the Massachusetts mills stated that shortage of water was responsible for the silencing of between 300 and 400 spindles in that mill and that these spindles are now being operated. There is lots of water at the present time and it's not expected that there will be another shortage for months to come. About all of the rain came after the ground was frozen with the result that most of the water found its way to the river.

The curtailment policy spoken of in yesterday's despatch is not reflected in any of the local mills, and certainly not in the Massachusetts mills. This corporation is installing new machinery in its new mills, the spinning and weaving mill in Merrimack square and the carding mill on the Concord river line. The Massachusetts mills are also hastening to completion, the boiler house 255 by 50 feet, with chimney 250 feet high, on land reclaimed from the Merrimack river. The steel work of the new boiler house is now complete. The new weaving and spinning and carding mills will be in operation within three or four months.

The Concrete Warehouses

The company's mammoth concrete warehouse in Bridge street is completed with the exception of a few finishing touches on the inside, and cotton openers and blowers have already been installed in the Centralville end of the building. The openers send the cotton through great zinc pipes to the mills on the river bank. The blowing and cleansing process is a most interesting one. The openers cleanse the cotton and it travels at express rate through the pipes that run along the overhead bridge connecting the new storehouse with the old storehouse and the mills. The system is half suction and half force. The cotton is driven by a fan in the big pipe. The fan sucks the cotton for half the distance and blows it the other half. A reporter for The Sun was given an opportunity to witness the process a few days ago and he found it very interesting. Considerable cotton has already been stored in the new storehouse. The storehouse will hold a year's supply of cotton. In storing cotton, the bales are stood on end and the floors in this new storehouse, with the exception of the room where the openers are located, are just high enough to admit a bale of cotton so that very little space is lost. It is the largest reinforced concrete warehouse ever erected by a textile mill in this country. Its dimensions are 100 feet by 255 feet, twelve stories, with eight foot height from top to top of each floor.

In addition to each floor being a fire and waterproof unit, the building is divided into four sections by concrete fire walls extending from basement to roof. There is, consequently, 45 compartments in any of which a fire could occur and the section below it could be flooded without any damage to the contents of the rest of the building. The building is sprinkled throughout, and all window frames and sashes are of metal, fitted with wire glass. The floors are all of the mushroom or glassless type, this affecting a very considerable saving in the height from floor to floor.

The Appleton Mills

Four new upright boilers are being installed by the Appleton company, which will add about 1800 horsepower to the plant.

Bigelow Carpet Company

The Wilton looms of the Bigelow Carpet Co. are now operated by electricity.

Steam Turbine Station

The Boott mills will, within a short time, erect a new high pressure steam turbine station on the site now occupied by the boiler house of the plant, and the present engine room will be rebuilt.

Hamilton Mfg. Co.

It is stated that the Hamilton Mfg. Co. will build a large bleach house in the spring. It has been known for some time that the company contemplated the erection of a bleach house, and that it will do bleaching for mills other than its own. It is also said that the company will turn its storehouse into weave rooms.

Principal Horne forwarded the following response to the above:

Lawrence, Mass., Jan. 9, 1911.

Mr. Ralph E. Flies, Principal of High School, Haverhill, Mass.

My dear Mr. Horne.—Before this communication reaches you, you will have received a check from our treasurer for the full amount due our athletic association, as per our agreement in regard to the division of the profits of the Thanksgiving day game. We regret there has been an apparently unnecessary delay in forwarding the money to you, but matters which we could not control are responsible for the delay.

We have felt that the rivalry between the schools is too keen and that the strain on the players and other pupils as the game approaches is greater than that which is consistent with good school keeping.

Such being our opinion, it was voted fully a week before the Thanksgiving day game took place that it would be for our best interests not to arrange a game for next year.

We are now of the same opinion, and we wish to notify you thus early in order that you may not be hampered in any way in making your schedule for another year.

Very truly yours,
Ralph E. Flies,
John L. Dakin, Jr.

Principal Horne forwarded the following response to the above:

Lawrence, Mass., Jan. 9, 1911.

Mr. Ralph E. Flies, Principal of High School, Haverhill, Mass.

My dear Mr. Flies.—I beg to acknowledge the receipt of a communication from the Haverhill High School.

Athletic board notifying me that in the opinion of that body it is for the best interest of the Haverhill High school not to arrange a football game for next Thanksgiving day between the Haverhill High school and the Lawrence High school.

Appreciating that the reasons given for your arriving at that decision are matters wholly within your own prerogative, I accept your decision in the same spirit of courtesy as that in which it is expressed.

Very truly yours,
James D. Horne.

Commenting on the situation, the Haverhill Gazette has the following to say:

"It is predicted that if the Haverhill High takes on Lowell as the team with which to play the annual Thanksgiving day game, Lawrence High will next year be begging to be taken back with Haverhill once more. Last year Lawrence split and the only big game, which Lawrence had won with Haverhill, whereas in former years the game which they played with Lowell was given nearly as much prominence as the annual battle with the local team. Now Haverhill and Lowell will occupy the centre of the stage in Merrimack valley athletics and Lawrence will be in a way frozen out. It will be difficult for Lawrence to find another rival, and none can be found whose geographical position will admit of any big rivalry. As for Haverhill, the game with Lowell last year attracted thousands of people and Haverhill was beaten by small margin. Lowell's teams have been better the past few years and a battle between Lowell and Haverhill, if arranged, will be to the finish on the coming turkey day. It is thought that Lawrence will learn her lesson this year and that she will be more willing to do business with Haverhill on a better basis and with a more sports-spirit.

NIGHT EDITION

HOLY NAME SOCIETIES

Will Observe the Great Feast Tomorrow

Tomorrow is the feast of the Holy Name, and the plans outlined for its observance locally indicate that it will be a tremendous success. Some time ago Rev. Thomas McCay, diocesan director of the Holy Name societies, recommended that in each district in the diocese the societies unite and hold a union observance of the day. In Lowell, the service will take place at St. Patrick's church, and all the societies in the Lowell division are planning to be represented in large numbers. Vespers service will be held to be followed by a sermon by Rt. Rev. Msgr. Edward J. Moriarty of Cambridge; a noted pulpit orator. After mass breakfast will be served in Lincoln hall, with Pres. Richard Lyons presiding over what promises to be a fine entertainment. In the evening the members will meet at the church at 7:45 o'clock and will later march to St. Patrick's church to the union service.

The societies of the Sacred Heart church and St. Peter's will proceed down Gorham street at 6 o'clock to Merrimack square, where they will meet the men from St. Michael's and the Immaculate Conception churches. At 6:30 the great gathering will move to St. Patrick's, where the only credential required to gain admittance is the Holy Name button. Earlier in the day the societies will receive holy communion.

Peter's Church
St. Peter's church tomorrow, the day of the Holy Name will be elaborately observed by the Holy Name society. There is one day in the life of the good priests at St. Peter's that is made happy—it is when the quarterly name day of the Holy Name society comes round, for the men invariably respond in such numbers as to call for much praise. Hence it is that tomorrow being the patronal feast of the society, it will be so observed in the Catholic world. The arrangements as outlined for St. Peter's are for the members to assemble at 7:45 o'clock, at the Fair hall, where they will proceed to the church, taking seats in a reserved section. The Holy Name choir, James E. Donnelly, director, will assist. After mass breakfast will be served in Lincoln hall, with Pres. Richard Lyons presiding over what promises to be a fine entertainment. In the evening the members will meet at the church at 7:45 o'clock and will later march to St. Patrick's church to the union service.

Sacred Heart Church

The Holy Name society of the Sacred Heart will observe the feast of the Holy Name with appropriate exercises tomorrow. The members will assemble in the school hall tomorrow morning at 7:30 o'clock for formation. They will then march to the church and attend the 8 o'clock mass at which service the society will receive holy communion in a body. After mass all will repair to the new school hall for breakfast. After the breakfast an excellent musical program will be carried out. In the evening the society with full regalia will participate in the parade to St. Patrick's church.

ST. PATRICK'S DAY

Convention of the Irish-Catholic Societies Tomorrow

Last year no celebration was held among representatives from seventeen societies, and it was remarked at that time by O. H. Hall, that the day by the associated societies, Mr. James J. Gallagher, chairman of the 1910 convention, will be celebrated. The parade of the A. O. H. to order and after the organization has been effected, the principal question will be up for discussion.

THE FIRE LOSS

One of the Lowest in the History of Lowell

The fire loss for the year 1910 was $52,274.62, one of the lowest in the history of Lowell. The comparatively low loss speaks well of the work of the members of the local fire department, who under the guidance of Chief E. S. Hosmer and Deputy Chief Norton were prompt in responding to alarms and effective in their work upon arriving on the scene.

The biggest loss in any one month was in December when property was destroyed to the extent of $21,889. In fact, if it had not been for the two fires—one in the Institute building in Middle street and the other in the Gerrish property at the corner of Central and Prescott streets on December 30th, the loss for the entire year would be under $30,000.

That the loss this year was exceptionally low can be realized at a glance, when it is taken into consideration that the fire loss in Lowell in 1909 was $186,161.33, nearly three times as much as the loss last year.

There were 12 fires during the year, where the loss was over $1000. The big fire of the year was on Feb. 22, when W. L. Parker's house in Middle street was damaged to the extent of $10,000. On March 7 the fire broke out in the plant of the Merrimack Engraving Co. in the Gerrish property in Central street, and the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad at the end of Howard before the flames were extinguished.

the loss to the building and the occupants amounted to $8,361.55.

On the night of the same day a dangerous blaze was discovered in the Institute building in Middle street, the greater portion of which is occupied by the A. G. Pollard Co. and the loss to the building and contents amounted to $11,207.95.

THE STREET DEPT.

Had Sand Gangs Out This Morning

Three sand gangs, with 17 teams were sent out by Sept. Putnam of the street department at 4 o'clock this morning to sand the streets, and there were places where the sand was badly needed. The sand for the streets is taken originally from the poor farm bank, so-called, and stored in the department yard for use when required. This has been a pretty easy winter for the street department so far as snow is concerned. This time last year the department had expended several thousands of dollars for snow shoveling.

It is rather late in the year for street work, but the street department has a gang of men in Clark road trying to finish a job begun some months ago, which includes the widening of the street, and straightening of the lines. The men say there is very little frost in the ground for this time of the year. There is some sewer work going on, too, but it does not amount to more than odds and ends of old jobs.

The last pile has been driven in the Lawrence street bridge job and work on the abutment on the southerly side has been begun. As soon as the second abutment has been finished, the rest will be comparatively easy, and Sept. Putnam said today that he hoped to see the bridge open for travel before many weeks have passed.

MOTHER ARRESTED

Said to Have Confessed to Having Murdered Her Child

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Jan. 14.—Out-spoken by the telegraph, recognized by her photograph and identified by her luggage, Mrs. Edith Melcher of Schenectady, was arrested in the railroad station here yesterday afternoon and charged with the murder of her son George, 5 years old, who was found frozen in a swamp near Albany last Tuesday with stains of acid on his lips. Less than an hour later she had confessed to murdering the child. The woman shivered when she saw the uniform of a policeman and under a fire of questions soon broke down.

Sobbing and shaking she told the whole horrible story. She gave her child carbolic acid to drink when he asked for water, she admitted, and left his body among the weeds.

Not all the facts bear out the alleged confession. The police believe there was a struggle although she denies forcing the lad to drink the poison. They say that on the woman's hand is an acid burn; that on her coat are flecks of dried saliva.

When her trunk was opened it was found to contain the woman's personal effects, a man's suit of clothing, and a bundle containing the dead boy's clothes.

Detective John Reed of Albany arrived here before the confession was made. Her maiden name, he said, was Gilbeau and she comes of a respected family in Syracuse.

SLANDER SUIT KILLED PRISONER

May Enliven Session of Police Officer's Aim Parliament Was True

LONDON, Jan. 14.—The unusual feature of a political slander suit is likely to enliven the coming session of parliament, for Winston Spencer Churchill, secretary for home affairs, has issued a writ claiming damages for defamation of character against a unionist orator, T. B. Spencer. The alleged slander was uttered in speech made by Mr. Spencer at Devonshire during the recent campaign.

According to reliable information Alfred J. Balfour has succeeded in suppressing a revolt in a section of the unionist party, of which he is the leader, against his adoption of the referendum as a permanent plank in the unionist policy. It is understood that Mr. Balfour threatened to resign the leadership of the party unless this course was approved whereupon the discontinued members yielded.

Meanwhile, however, several committees have been appointed to investigate the electoral organization of the unionist party in order to discover the remediable defects in it.

"BIG DUTCH"

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 14.—Frank Miller, alias "Big Dutch," who was arrested here, charged with a number of burglaries committed in Yonkers, N. Y., was last night identified by postal inspectors as Frank Fisher who, they say, is one of the most notorious safe breakers, post office robbers and gamblers in the country.

Post Office Inspectors Spofford and Jennings of the Maine district arrived here last night and will testify to a number of post office robberies in Maine and Massachusetts which they say Fisher committed.

SUPREME COURT

SENATORS IN FAVOR OF MORE COMMODIOUS QUARTERS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—A movement was started in the senate yesterday looking to the establishment of more commodious chambers for the chief justices and associate justices of the supreme court of the United States. It was proposed that all of the old library space in the center of the capitol building be devoted to the uses of the court.

Senator Bailey condemned the "beggarly chambers" devoted to the high-court tribunal. He said that lawyers seeking writs of certiorari now are compelled to invade the homes of the individual members of the court, because of the poor chambers supplied.

Members of the committee on rules, under the leadership of Senators Bacon and Bailey, will undertake to effect the change suggested.

THE FIRE DRILL

Saved 225 Deaf and Dumb Children

NEW YORK, Jan. 14.—Perfect drill saved 225 deaf and dumb children from fire last night, when flames broke out in the upper stories of the Institution for the Improved Instruction of Deaf Mutes, while the 30 instructors were all at supper in the basement. There was no panic and there were no injuries, but the heat and smoke pressed the rear guard hard, and the police and bystanders fled with each other in helping the last comers to the street. All orders were given by sign.

Mabel Stone, a deaf mute, gave the alarm. Two passers-by who had seen the roof ablaze, rushed into the hallway so excited that they forgot where they were, and shouted "Fire." The word woke no response in Mabel. Then they realized, and carried her to the street. One look was enough for her. She rushed to the basement, words fluttering from her fingers. Superintendent Taylor rose with one brief sentence:

"Teachers, you know your duties." He said, and the drill began.

6 O'CLOCK THE CHARTER BILL

Filed at State House Today by
Rep. Marchand

Rep. Barlow Files Bill to Tax
Stock Transfer—Senator Hibbard Wants Open Season for Deer in Middlesex County—
Other New Bills of Local Interest

Today is the last day for filing bills and resolutions in the legislature, and Senator Hibbard, Rep. Barlow and Rep.
Marchand made hurried trips to the state house to get in belated bills before the time expired.

The three Lowell men today were the charter bill presented by Rep. Mar-chand; the bill for an appropriation for the textile school presented by Rep.
Barlow and a bill closing certain roads in Lowell and Tyngsboro in the event of an automobile race next fall.

These are only a few of the Lowell bills presented as many others are already in and have been reported.

An important bill introduced yesterday by Rep. Barlow calls for the taxing of stock transfer at the rate of 2 cents on every $100. This is done to get additional revenue for the state

How to get more revenue and reduce the state tax has been the problem of the legislators and Rep. Barlow attempts to solve it by the introduction of the stock transfer bill. Although several attempts have been made to keep down the state tax, it remains as high as ever but the passage of the stock transfer bill will tend to reduce it.

Interest to Hunters.

Senator Hibbard has introduced an amendment to the law on deer providing for an open season for deer in Middlesex Co. He does this because there is an open season in other counties and farmers have complained to the senator of repeated raids on their vegetable patches by deer as the latter are becoming quite numerous in this section.

Rep. Barlow introduced a bill providing that 25 per cent of the hunters' license fees be paid to the cities in which the licenses are granted. At the present time the state receives the entire fee.

Other Local Bills.

As was reported yesterday, Senator Hibbard has introduced a bill for the erection of a monument to the late General Butler, to be located somewhere in the vicinity of the state house.

Senator Hibbard of Lowell, on petition of Mayor Mechan, presented a bill to provide that no person or corporation shall prepare or open any way in the city of Lowell, the width of grade of which is not satisfactory to the committee will begin a campaign of education at once.

RAILROAD LINES

Fighting Worst Storm
in Twenty Years

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Jan. 14.—With hundreds of men battling with the snow choked passages of the Sierras in an effort to keep the railroad lines clear and bring relief to the stalled overland passenger and mail trains, all the gigantic resources of the Southern Pacific and Western Pacific railroad companies are being brought to bear in fighting the worst snowstorm in the mountain districts in the last twenty years. Last night all east and west bound trains were moving on the Southern Pacific tracks through the Sierras, and the snowdrifts, which were damaged by the heavy fall of snow the last two days, had been temporarily removed.

Realizing the impossibility of forcing a passage through the snow drifts of six and eight foot deep, the Western Pacific railroad officials last night ordered its stalled east bound overland trains in Belden and Oroville to return to San Francisco and annul the overland in San Francisco which was ready waiting to start west.

TODAY'S STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK MARKET

STOCK MARKET

BOSTON MARKET

WAS HEAVY AT THE CLOSE

TODAY

Marked Failure to Hold Its Slight Im- provement—Some of the Railroad

Stocks Made Brisk Advances

NEW YORK, Jan. 14.—The feature of the opening of the stock market was extensive trading in U. S. Steel and Reading. Steel opened with a block of 9,000 shares at 76 1/2 against 75 1/2 at yesterday's closing. A block of Reading shares changed hands at 15 1/2 to 15 1/4 an advance of 1 1/2. Toledo, St.

Louis & Western pid. advanced a point and there were 1/2 point gains in Louisville & Nashville, Missouri-Pacific, U. P. and G. N. Northern pid. The tone of the market was strong.

Stocks were supplied freely on the advance and the market reacted slightly and became dull. N. Y. Central was weak on rumors that a large bond issue would soon be made. C. P.
R. Reading and other stocks which advanced firmly yesterday fluctuated within a range of about half. The newly 4% per cent bonds sold at 10%, compared with 101 for the old issue.

Some weak spots cropped out in the inactive section. At 11 o'clock Lehigh Valley was bid up rapidly to 175 1/2 a gain of over a point, and the rest of the list immediately picked up in sympathy.

The market closed heavy. The market failed to hold its slight improvement in the bulge of Lehigh Valley to subsequently selling for both accounts a point. U. P., St. Paul, Southern Pacific, Canadian Pacific slightly below yesterday's close and N. Y. Central one-half point. Liquidation in some of the industrials helped along the setback. American Beet Sugar lost two and Westinghouse Electric first bid 7 points. The Rock Island stocks and St. Louis and San Francisco second pid advanced briskly in spite of the general heftiness.

CLEARING HOUSE STATEMENT

NEW YORK, Jan. 14.—The statement of clearing house banks for the week shows that the banks hold $27,- 495,250 more than the requirements of the 25 per cent reserve rule. This is an increase of $17,993,850 in the proportionate cash reserve as compared with last week.

BOSTON COPPER MARKET

BOSTON, Jan. 14.—There was a fair volume of trading in the local copper market today with prices holding firm until the close. Lake 35 1/2, up 1/2; N.

Butte 33 1/2, up 1/2; Oceola 110, up 2,

Wiscon. 62, up 1/2.

SPOT COPPER

NEW YORK, Jan. 14.—Spot cotton closed quiet. Mid-Ups 14 1/2; Mid-Gulf

AMERICAN NOT GUILTY

LONDON, Jan. 14.—Maurice Joseph Eppely, the American, who was remanded in Bow street police court on January 6 pending an investigation of how he came into possession of $2000 worth of the notes of the American Express Co. which had been reported as lost by the company last May, reappeared in the court today and was released immediately, a cablegram from America having fully confirmed his innocence. Eppely received the notes from another party in payment of an obligation.

MRS. EDDY'S WILL

BOSTON, Jan. 14.—In anticipation of the probate of the will of Mrs.

Mary Baker Eddy at Concord next Tuesday and to consider the recent legal matters that have arisen in connection with the disposition of the residuary estate, there was a conference here today of the directors of the mother church and several of the attorneys.

The conference was held in the offices of Samuel J. Elder, one of the Massachusetts attorneys, and among those present were General Frank S.

Streeter of Concord, N. H., for many years the personal counsel of Mrs.

Eddy; William A. Morse, the executive counsel for the church, and General Henry Baker of Bow, N. H., the executor of the will.

INJURIES PROVED FATAL

DETROIT, Jan. 14.—Injury to the matter postponed till next week was that he desired time in order to locate an important witness. On the other hand, Mr. Donahue contended that counsel on the other side had plenty of time to locate the witness and he thought it was an injustice to keep his client away from his employment.

Warrant Officer Peter Cavley was called by Mr. Donahue and in answer to questions said he found the complainant in Charles street, but the latter was unable to tell where the missing witness was and he (Cavley) had been unable to find the man despite the fact that he had had the assistance of an interpreter.

It is alleged that over a year ago

Yurewicz gave Blazquez $20 to secure him a position in one of the mills.

Blazquez, it is said, failed to get the position for Yurewicz and also refused to give up the money, whereupon the latter reported the matter to the police and Blazquez was arrested. When he was called for trial he asked for a continuance and was released on one of his friends and furnished $500 bonds. Then Blazquez left the city and nothing was heard of him until during the early part of this week he was arrested by the Worcester police and later brought to this city.

Stole From Employer

Paul Braden pleaded guilty to the larceny of half bushel of corn from his employer, Patrick Cogger, the well known truckman, and was fined $14, held out for inspection of the delegates.

Of late Mr. Cogger has been missing from the annual meeting of the United

Grain, Corn and Cobs from his barn in States G. Association, which will be Riverside street, Pawtucket, and held here tonight. What appears on despite the fact that he tried to detect the face of matters to be the most the thief was unable to do so. Yesterday he reported the matter to the police, and Patrolman Lemay was detained to investigate the matter and arrested the defendant.

In court this morning Braden admitted that he had taken the corn but said it was the first that he had taken. His reason for taking it, he said, was that he had some pigs at his home in Dracut and had no money to purchase food.

Mr. Cogger testified that the defendant had worked for him for about four months and was a good workman. He said he did not care about pressing the matter because the man has been allowed one month to live.

The war talk is confined to the Western G. Association which it has been said, will spread out into the American G. Association and declare itself the real national body of the putter.

It is carried by the U. S. G. A. There is more back of the affair than the putter question, however, according to several delegates that are here, as they contest that the U. S. G. A. must allow all clubs in the country equal voting

AT CRYSTAL LAKE B. & M. BOWLERS

Many Men Await a Cold Snap
Were Defeated by the New Haven Men

Fletcher's quarry at North Chelmsford has shut down on account of the weather and the accompanying poor business, and the quarry workers are waiting for the ice to get to the necessary depth on Crystal lake so that the Boston Ice company will start cutting ice. The company cuts when the ice gets a thickness of 12 inches and it has reached that this season, though before the company could get busy the thaw came and now it is ten inches thick or two inches below the required amount of cutting.

The Boston ice company employs about 300 men when cutting ice and most of them are employees of Fletcher's and the neighboring quarries, and it generally happens that shortly after the quarries shut down for the winter the ice business starts up so that the quarrymen go to work cutting ice and are idle but short time. This year, however, on account of the unusual weather, the quarry men are idle and all are praying for a cold snap.

FUNERALS

LAPIERRE.—The funeral of Ernest Lapierre took place yesterday with imposing services at Notre-Dame de Lourdes church. The deceased's schoolmates assisted in a body. A high mass of requiem was sung by Rev. Fr. Lamotte, O. M. I., and the choir rendered the Gregorian chant. Mr. H. A. Racicot directing and Miss Alma Alexander presiding at the organ. The bearers were four playmates of deceased, Paul and Emile Dosster, Edgar Lanoue and Ralph Roux.

Among the floral tributes were a large spray of pink roses, Mrs. C. J. Pierce and Louis A. Pierce; spray of plums and sweet peas with inscription "Brother," Victor Lapierre; cross of white pines with inscription, "Daring," a friend; large star on base with inscription "Sympathy of the Playmates," playmates of deceased, and several other baskets of flowers and wreaths from friends.

THE TRACK TEAM

OF LOWELL HIGH SCHOOL GETTING INTO SHAPE RAPIDLY

The members of the Lowell High school track team are showing up well in practice and are rapidly developing into fine shape. The season will open during the latter part of the month and it is expected that Lowell will have as clever a bunch of athletes as ever represented the school.

The call for candidates was made several weeks ago and scores have reported for try-outs. Twice each week the members have met at the high school annex and under the direction of Dr. Fordyce Coburn have been put through a systematic series of stunts.

Captain Leggett, Sullivan, Fraser, Spalding, Carter and Donahue are some of the older runners who will undoubtedly find places on the team. There were more than fifty candidates at the annex yesterday and for two hours worked hard.

PATSY KLINE

WAS OUTPOINTED BY CHAMPION ABE ATTELL

NOW YORK, Jan. 14.—Abe Attell, the featherweight champion, outpointed Patsy Kline of Newark in a snappy 10 round fight at the National Sporting Club of America last night. Kline kept after Attell throughout the fight and took a lot of punishment in his endeavor to land a knockout blow. But Attell's clever footwork and ducking caused many of Kline's vicious swings to go wild. In the clinches Attell pummeled the Newark boy's kidneys severely. Both boys were fighting sturdy when the bell rang.

The dispute as to the boundary line at this point in the river has caused trouble in enforcing the fishing laws of the two states, which frequently conflict, and it is for the interests of all concerned to agree upon a boundary.

For that purpose a commission has been named by each state and these bodies are now holding conferences, seeking to establish an arbitrary line that shall mark the boundary. The report of the two commissions on the subject will be submitted to the state legislatures for ratification so that the present year may see the end of the long continued controversy.

Waters about Sand Island are valuable because of the large quantities of salmon caught there each season and it is on this account chiefly that each of the two states war's to claim the barren sand pile.

HACKENSMITH LOST

CHICAGO, Jan. 14.—George Hackenschmidt lost a handicap wrestling match to Charles Cutler last night, when he failed to throw Cutler within an hour.

FIRST PHOTOS OF SENSATIONAL FIGHT IN LONDON BETWEEN ANARCHISTS AND AUTHORITIES

LONDON, Jan. 14.—The recent affray in the east end between anarchist murderers on one side and policemen and soldiers on the other has attracted the attention of the civilized world owing largely to the spectacular manner in which it occurred. The men killed were operators of a bomb factory in the Brooklyns can be secured. It is said that Pitcher Commiss may be offered in an even swap for Billie Dohmen, however, thinks that the services of his big boxman are needed at Washington park.

John McGraw says that Second

Baseman Earl Gardner of the Highlanders is one of the most natural fielders he has ever seen. Gardner was bothered by a weak ankle practically all of last year and could not do himself justice. If he reports in first class condition at Athens Gardner will probably be the regular second baseman.

Jackie Knight will play that position. It is understood that if Gardner can play second base regularly Manager Chase will try Knight at third base until he has learned whether Ott Johnson has quality enough to cover short field permanently. If Johnson fails to make good then Knight will go back to his old place while Elliott and Austin will fight it out for third place. It is safe to say that Daniels will play centre-field regularly this year, with Clegg and Wolter in right. That is the combination Chase has been figuring on ever since last fall. With the present well-seasoned material in hand Chase will have comparatively few experiments to make.

During the recent National League meeting in this city August Hermann advocated a newfangled schedule which would limit the playing season in each major league to 112 games, to be followed by an interleague series in which all of the big teams would meet one another. M. Stanley Robinson of the St. Louis Cardinals now says that he is the originator of this plan and predicts that it will be adopted next year. Mr. Robinson in advocating the plan shows that in at least four of the eight cities in each league interest in the pennant race is practically dead after the season is half over. But under the proposed arrangement he points out that with added attractions these "all end" cities would enjoy renewed business.

Mr. Robinson, as an illustration of the unfairness of the present schedule, shows that because the Detroit team finished four points ahead of the Clevelanders in 1908 the Detroit owners reaped a fortune and their players divided a lot of extra money, while Cleveland's owners and players received no extra reward for their long, hard fight, which was nullified by one adverse decision in a game at St. Louis. Mr. Robinson says that an interleague series would provide sixteen cash prizes, with a little money even for the teams that finished at the tail end of the procession. He points out that "one league" cities like Cincinnati, Pittsburgh, Cleveland, Washington and Brooklyn would welcome a chance to see the teams in the other league. It is said that Mr. Harriman will try to convert Ban Johnson to the scheme and that, if the American league's president can be convinced favorably the major leagues will both swing in line, at least for one year.

Mr. Hermann's suggestion to the National commission to change a rule so that drafted and purchased players cannot be turned back to the minor leagues until both major leagues have waived claim has not been adopted as yet, but as President Lynch is strongly in favor of the plan it is believed that it will soon go into effect. If the rule had been adopted a month ago the Highlanders, for instance, could not have released Mitchell, Foster and Hughes to Rochester until all of the National league clubs had refused to take advantage of the waiver rule.

BOXING GOSSIP

Once more New England promoters begin to realize the value of Tommy Sullivan as an attraction. The Lawrence man has received more offers the past few days than he received at any time in the year, which has just slid off the calendar.

E. W. Hanks, one of the live promoters of New England, figures on securing Tommy for a big show to be held in City hall, Augusta, Me., early in February. Hanks in his telegram to Sullivan, who is training at Easton, Pa., names Jimmy Gardner of Lowell as his adversary for the big entertainment.

Hanks tells Sullivan that he will run special trains from all parts of the Pine Tree state if he will sign to meet the Lowell boxer. Hanks claims he can draw 4000 people for the match. Sullivan says that he is ready to meet Gardner, but he asks for time to consider the match.

In the meantime he is pegging away hard in Philadelphia, at the Edington training camp, with a corps of best handlers and sparring partners in the Quaker city for his bout with Joe Thomas.

Thomas is training hard. He is already in good shape. Several days of hard training have been put in by Thomas in preparation for his bout with Tom Sawyer, which will be decided in Portland tonight.

With a special train from Lawrence carrying Sullivan's friends to the ringside, and followers of the game from Nashua, Lowell, Leominster, Franklin, Concord, Dover, Milford, Haverhill and other places crowding to the ringside the indications are that one of the biggest crowds in the history of boxing in Manchester will be present.

Jack Johnson, who is in New York for a day or two, denies that he has a secret understanding with Al Kaufman to fight in London under Hugh McIntosh's management, but at the same time he says Kaufman is the best heavyweight in the world barring himself of course. Johnson declares that Kaufman would "eat up" such men as Jeanette, McVey and Sam Langford, simply because of his superior knowledge of boxing and his splendid physique. As for Bill Lang of Australia, Johnson says that Kaufman can beat that gentleman in a few rounds, maybe half a dozen.

"I don't believe Al Kaufman wants to fight me," says the heavyweight champion. "I hear he challenged me recently just to boost his show, and I don't think he will be ready to talk business for a long time." But whenever he is ready I am. No, there wouldn't be any interest in a fight between me and Kaufman because as I said some time ago, two negroes will draw. That's why I think in time there'll be enough interest in a fight between me and Langford because, as I said some time ago, two negroes will draw. That's why I think in time there'll be enough interest in a fight between me and Kaufman to get a big purse. If Kaufman won't fight I hope this fellow Morris will out in Oklahoma will amount to something. I'd like to lick just one more white man before I retire. But I've got to get my price remembered before I get into the ring with any body."

"That story about doping Mistah Jeffries makes me laugh. He wasn't doped until I knocked him down a couple of times in the ring. Then he didn't know where he was. Sensible fellows who were out at Reno will tell you that the dope story is a joke. Would fight Jeff again." In a minute. But just remember that Jeff is through. He didn't want to get into the ring forever. He doesn't want any more worry and bother. He's got plenty of money and enjoys an easy life. I don't believe you could get him to fight again even if you offered him $100,000 win, loss or draw, and that's a whole lot of money. How much did I make out of the Reno fight? Well, all told my end of it was about $140,000, counting in a $20,000 wager and I ain't blowing it in, as people would have you believe. I've got the dough salted so that when the time comes to hang the back number sign over my door I'll be able to catch three squares a day and sleep in a feather bed as long as I live. Lil' Arthur is a very, very wise person, believe me!"

"Ad" Wolgast is once more appearing in a hold-up act. After agreeing on terms for his match with George Neagle at Los Angeles Feb. 22, he now demands an additional $250 from Promoter Tom McCarty for training expenses. McCarty refused a hold, but the chances are that he will agree to give the additional $250.

Packey McFarland will do his preliminary training for his bout with Jack Goodman at a roadhouse on Jerome avenue, New York. McFarland and Goodman are scheduled to meet for ten rounds at the National A. C. in New York, Tuesday evening, Jan. 17.

STANDARD OIL COMPANY IN FIGHT FOR ITS LIFE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—The government's case against the Standard Oil company has come up on appeal in the supreme court of the United States. Should a decision adverse to the company be given the giant combine must dissolve, and the company is making a desperate attempt to prevent such an outcome, having retained some of the leading corporation lawyers in the country to make its defense. John G. Mihlburg of New York, counsel for the New York Stock Exchange, opened the case for the company. He will be followed by Frank B. Kellogg for the government. D. T. Watson of Pittsburgh will then speak for the oil com-

JOHNNY SUMMERS

LONDON, Jan. 14.—The next big pugilistic battle of importance will be the 20 round battle between Harry Lewis of Philadelphia, who claims the welterweight championship of the world, and Johnny Summers, England's best. The contest is scheduled to be held at Hugh McIntosh's club on Jan. 25. Experts here figure that Summers will make Lewis extend himself to the limit to win, as he has improved wonderfully with the last few months. Summers was formerly a lightweight, but increasing weight forced him to enter the ranks of the welterweights. Lewis recently defeated Tom Lancaster of this city at the Wagram club in Jan. 25. Experts here figure that Summers will make Lewis extend himself to the Morris scored four hard knockdowns before he put Kennedy to sleep with a heavy right hand swing on the point of the jaw. Kennedy was out for several minutes. Morris was wildly cheered by a large crowd as he left the ring. His next match will probably be with Jim Flynn, the Pueblo brawler, at Tulsa, Okla.

The Hyde Park A. C. of Boston intends to take an active interest in boxing in the immediate future, and has started card in well by arranging an excellent card for next Monday evening. Dave Deshier and Kid Shea will meet in the main bout Jan. 16, the distance being scheduled for ten rounds. Shea's correct name is Colby McGowen, and he made quite a reputation as an amateur boxer when he was a resident of South Boston. Shea and Deshier recently met at Fall River and most press reports stated that Shea had a lead. There will be three preliminaries to the Shea-Deshier bout.

With a special train from Lawrence carrying Sullivan's friends to the ringside, and followers of the game from Nashua, Lowell, Leominster, Franklin, Concord, Dover, Milford, Haverhill and other places crowding to the ringside the indications are that one of the biggest crowds in the history of boxing in Manchester will be present.

As for Bill Lang of Australia, Johnson says that Kaufman can beat that gentleman in a few rounds, maybe half a dozen.

The match between Jimmy Gardner and Terri Martin, which was scheduled for New Bedford next Tuesday night, will take place Wednesday night instead, and the scene of the bout has been shifted from New Bedford to Fall River. The Colonial club of Fall River jumped at the opportunity to secure the match when the managers of the boxers and one of the directors of the New Bedford club could not agree upon arrangements.

Tommy Sullivan of Lawrence received an offer to meet Hugo Kelly Feb. 22 at Jack O'Brien's new clubhouse in Philadelphia. Sullivan, who is training just outside Philadelphia, accepted the offer and Kelly is yet to be heard from. Before that match is arranged Sullivan will take on Joe Thomas at Manchester, N. H. The Lawrence boxer has sent word from Philadelphia that he will be on hand at the Armory A. A. Friday night. Baldwin says his arm, that was injured in his bout with Battling Murley does not bother him while he is going through his training stunts, and claims that he will be in tip-top shape when he faces Pal Moore at the Armory A. A. Friday night. Baldwin has an excellent chance to get a decision over Moore, and, judging from the showing that Moore has made recently against men who were somewhere near his own weight, the Charlestown boxer should rule favorite, as he is a fighter from the tap of the tongue.

Gardner-Martin Bout Shifted

The match between Jimmy Gardner and Terri Martin, which was scheduled for New Bedford next Tuesday night, will take place Wednesday night instead, and the scene of the bout has been shifted from New Bedford to Fall River. The Lawrence boxer has sent word from Philadelphia that he will be on hand at the Armory A. A. Friday night, to take part in the benefit to be tendered John Norden.

Tommy Burns has once more changed his mind about retiring from the ring and has cabled Hugh McIntosh his acceptance of an offer of $12,500 for his end in a match with Bill Lang, to be held at McIntosh's club in London. Burns declined Lang when they fought in Australia, but Lang has improved since then.

Jeannette Shows Some Marks

Other than a pair of black eyes and a slight cut on the nose Joe Jeannette did not receive any facial marks in his bout with Langford. But the injuries he did receive were enough, and it's doubtful if Joe agrees to box Sam again for many moons to come. Langford is around town wearing a golden smile, but gives Jeannette credit for being the greatest man he ever fought.

"Ad" Wolgast is once more appearing in a hold-up act. NUMEROUS MEASURES PAROCHIAL SCHOOLS

Were Filed With Clerks of Senate and House Today

BOSTON, Jan. 14.—Petitions, bills and resolutions asking all sorts of legislation from direct nominations to regulating the length of hat pins raised down on the clerks of the senate and house today as the barrier against new matters closes at 5 p. m. today.

Any citizen of the commonwealth has the privilege of petitioning through some member of the legislature, and although the closing time for new business is a week shorter this year than ever before there was no indication at noon today that the amount of material dumped into the legislative hopper would be any less than last year, in fact the chances seemed in favor of more matters. With a fairly strong republican, senate and house and a democratic governor, close observers at the state house predict less actual results than in many years.

The leading direct nomination bill was introduced today by Speaker Joseph Walker, one of the champions of the movement, in this state, a candidate for governor next fall and already "mentioned" as a successor to Senator Lodge.

Mr. Walker's bill provides for direct nominations for all offices and for party conventions to frame and promulgate platforms and elects state committees. The bill has a referendum attachment.

Major John F. Fitzgerald of Boston is particularly insistent for modification of provisions applying to Boston, and authority to carry on different lines of work in which legislature approves.

Milk bills, liquor bills, labor bills, railroad bills and game bills are included in the long list of matters that have come in from different parts of the state, while the annual woman's suffrage agitation appears this year on the petition of the American Federation of Labor instead of the suffrage league.

Fire Caused Alarm in Chicago Hotels and Theatres

CHICAGO, Jan. 14.—Fire in a four-story building on Madison street last night caused alarm in two nickel theatres and two hotels in the vicinity.

The audiences in both theatres were quickly dismissed and many guests in the Morrison and Grant hotels rushed into the street. No one was injured.

The loss was about $150,000, the most of which was suffered by the Alexander Cassier company, gold and silver refiners.

GOLDEN WEDDING

Observed by Mr. and Mrs. Racicot

Mr. and Mrs. Henri Alphonse Racicot of this city are today observing the 60th anniversary of their marriage.

Fifty years ago today, that is Jan. 14, 1861, Mr. H. A. Racicot and Miss Emilie Journe were united in marriage in the parochial church of St. Jean d'Urberville, Que. Four years later, on Aug. 15, 1865, the young couple migrated to this city, where they have lived ever since, occupying the house numbered 317 Middlesex street. They were among the pioneer founders of St. Joseph's parish, and Mr. Racicot was the organizer of the first choir of the church and choirmaster for 22 consecutive years, then resigning it. After a few years he again took the direction of the choir and filled the position of choirmaster from 1890 to 1905, when he again resigned.

Two years ago, when Notre-Dame de Lourdes parish was founded, Rev. Fr. Dubreuil, O. M. I., pastor of the church, asked Mr. Racicot to organize a choir and take its direction, and Mr. Racicot accepted, for said he: "It was hard to get rid of a choir-singing and directing habit after being at it for 22 years." He has been choirmaster there since the church opened.

The venerable couple are well known and held in high esteem in this city, where they count a host of friends. Today's observance has been very quiet, owing to Mrs. Racicot's feeble health, the family only participating in the rejoicing of the day.

Mr. Racicot was born in Burlington, Vt., July 4, 1841. He is a carriage painter by trade and is now carrying on this business at 35 Willie street.

Today is a double event for Mrs. Racicot, for she is also celebrating her 72d-anniversary of birth, being born in St. Jean d'Urberville, Que., Jan. 14, 1839.

Mr. and Mrs. Racicot had eight children, six of whom are living, namely: Arthur A. Lowell, son of Malden, Mass.; Mrs. Diana Gellineau and Mrs. Lea Racicot, of Lowell;

Thursday afternoon, Miss Edyth Young, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Young of this city, was united in marriage to Mr. George L. Willett of Panama, formerly of this city. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. W. Thomas at the bride's grandmother's home in Ayer. The bride was becomingly gowned in white and carried bride's roses. Miss Dorcas Scrutton, a cousin of the bride, was bridesmaid and was attired in white. Mr. William Scrutton was best man.

A short reception was held after the ceremony and then Mr. and Mrs. Willett left on the 6:15 train for New York, from which port they sail for their far away home in Panama, where Mr. Willett holds a very lucrative position, that of district sanitary inspector.

ST. JOSEPH'S CONVENT SCHOOL

St. Joseph's Convent School--Its History and Its Work

If you go up Moody street as far as Spaulding street you will see a large brick structure which sets back some 15 feet from the sidewalk. It is known as St. Joseph's convent. This school is for girls only. It is the only one in this city and the largest one in New England. It was erected in 1883 under the supervision of the late Rev. Gratian O'Malley. At that time both the boys and girls attended school in that building, but the number of schools increased so rapidly that some 15 years ago the college on Merrimack street was built for the boys. The schoolhouse contained 15 class rooms, a basement and a large gathering hall on the upper floor where entertainments were held often previous to the erection of the college. Since that time three additional rooms in the upper hall and three in the basement were built. The number of girls has so increased that two classes are held in a cottage house opposite the main school of Moody street, and three in the new schoolhouse in Pawtucketville. The Grey Nuns of the Cross are in charge. They number 22, counting two who have charge of the little boys from 6 to 7 years, who attend the school on Merrimack street next to St. Jean Baptiste church, and three who are conducting the Notre Dame de Lourdes school in Branch street. In St. Joseph's convent the scholars are taught English, French, mathematics and geography. At the last diocesan examinations held in June last under the supervision of Rev. Fr. Lyons of Boston, St. Joseph's convent came out with the highest percentage for English studies. These examinations comprised all the parochial schools, both French and English, in the Boston diocese. There are a few English speaking children, who attend the French schools. Among them is a little six year old Irish girl, who has been going to the Pawtucketville school for the past four months. When she entered the school she did not know A in French; now she speaks the language fluently and still retains her English knowledge.

The superior of the convent is Rev. Sister McMillan, who celebrated her golden jubilee last November. The past superior to the incoming time have been: Rev. Sister Blanche, now superior at Plattsburgh, N. Y.; Rev. Sister St. Therese, superior of the orphanage at Ogdensburg, N. Y.; Rev. Sister St. Rubi, now in the mother house in Ottawa; Rev. Sister St. Felicité, now superior at L'Orignal, Que.; Rev. Sister St. Marie de la Visitation, now at the mother house and Rev. Sisters St. Raphael, superior at Shudbury, Ontario. Among the boy graduates of the convent are: Dr. P. Brundelle, Dr. G. O'Donnell, Dr. J. G. Constantineau, Rev. Fr. Plourde, O. M. I., Rev. Fr. Turcotte, O. M. I., Rev. Fr. Chouquette, Rev. Fr. Quimette, O. M. I., Rev. Fr. Chaput, O. M. I., Rev. Fr. Carrier, O. M. I., Rev. Fr. Blais, O. M. I., Rev. Fr. J. Racette, O. M. I., Rev. Fr. Hurte Racette, O. M. I., D. D. of Tewksbury, Wolfe Caisse, Jr., co-proprietor of "La Croix Rouge" pharmacy, Major-Louis Cossette manager of a department in the Bon Marché, Frederick Lamoureux manager of the H. C. Grard hardware store, Homer L. P. Turcotte, of City Messenger, Joseph Fattie's staff, J. W. Parmentier, Joseph Carrier of the A. G. Pollard Co., Oscar Allard, registrar of voters, Joseph Chouquette of Macartney's Apparel Shop, of Lynn Arthur Vallandor, Vallandor & Lynn Arthur Vallandor of Manchester, N. H., Lucien Turcotte, Georges E. Poirier of the Water Works office, Xavier Delise of the Boston & Maine office of Boston, Arthur Demarval, manager of Ziskind's foundry, Count Olman Henri Achin, Jr., Edelmer Desmarais, contracting plumber, Albert Allard, Joseph Constantineau, merchant; John Raymond, baker; James O'Phelan, real estate; Frank Raymond, Elzear H. Hebert of Macartney's Apparel Shop; H. V. Charbonneau, attorney at law; Albert Blazon, attorney at law and principal assessor; Adelard Almond of the Boston & Maine; Albert E. Jean, cashier of the Lowell Trust; Miss Blanche Gosselin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Gosselin, 12 Little Avenue, the brightest scholar that graduated from the convent in the past five years; she later graduated from the Lowell Commercial College and is now employed as bookkeeper for a local concern. Rev. Fr. Watelle, O. M. I., pastor of St. Joseph's parish stated to a representative of the Sun that a new home for the Sisters will be built in the early spring on the land occupied now by the old residence, which is too small to accommodate the 23 nuns now teaching in this city.

Purchases Y. M. C. A. Building in Hurd St. for $25,000

It appears that Albert E. O'Heir, the progressive furniture dealer in Merrimack square, is to be a factor in the development of the property along Central street, near where the Hamilton wall block is to be a feature in the near future. For some time past Mr. O'Heir's present location in Merrimack square has not afforded him sufficient room to handle his steadily increasing business, and accordingly he has had an eye out for a new location in which he would have room enough to do business on a much larger scale. With that object in view he has purchased the old Y. M. C. A. building in Hurd street, near Central street, for the sum of $25,000, precisely the amount the Y. M. C. A. paid for the Huntington hall lot on which the new and magnificent Y. M. C. A. building is to be erected.

The conditions of the sale are that the Y. M. C. A. can remain in the building until March 30, 1912, when in all probability the new quarters of the association will be ready for occupancy. Mr. O'Heir has paid a substantial amount of the purchase money and the articles of agreement have been duly made out and signed so that the sale is as certain as if the entire amount were paid.

The two lots included in the purchase are approximately 167 feet frontage and about the same in depth, containing about 11,500 square feet. The assessed value is 75 cents per square foot. The property on Hurd street is bound to undergo a very material increase in value within the near future owing to the great improvements to be made on Central street in that vicinity.

Mr. O'Heir is to be congratulated on his progressive step and upon the success which makes it necessary.

He will erect upon the lot a modern and up-to-date block designed to provide every convenience for conducting thereon one of the largest furniture establishments in this part of the state.

New York State again leads the country in the money spent, her total of $4,150,000 being more than double her expenditures for tuberculosis work in 1909. Pennsylvania is the second state and Massachusetts third.

MILLIONS SPENT

IN THE FIGHT AGAINST TUBERCULOSIS

CULOSIS

How the money spent last year in the anti-tuberculosis campaign practically doubled that spent in 1909, is shown in the second annual statistical statement published today by the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis. In its official organ, the Journal of the Outdoor Life.

The statement, which is based on reports from all parts of the United States, shows that in 1910, nearly $15,000,000 was spent in the fight against tuberculosis, as opposed to $5,000,000 spent in 1909. The largest item of expense in 1910 was for treatment in sanatoria and hospitals, $11,376,500, being expended for that purpose, or more than double the amount for 1909. The anti-tuberculosis and the tuberculosis dispensaries, $89,000. The special municipal and state expenditures aggregate $176,500.

THE CAPE COD CANAL

The seventeen lives lost on the Peaked Hills bar this week would have been saved if the Cape Cod canal were open to traffic. Already a mile of it has been excavated, and it is quite probable that another year will see the great work so far advanced that some ships can pass through. It is intended to have the canal wide enough and deep enough for war vessels to pass through.

During the great storm of December 15 quite a number of vessels took refuge in the canal while eleven vessels were wrecked off the cape.

The experiences of the past year have demonstrated most forcibly the great value of this canal, and have led a good many to inquire why it was not built before. It will help Boston, and Boston apparently needs commercial help to bring it up to what it should be as a port. At present it cannot compare in any respect to the port of New York in the volume of business and its importance as a terminal for great commercial lines.

THE SHIP SUBSIDY BILL

The republican policy of excessive protection has produced a vast crop of evils, and the queer feature of the situation is that while the fiscal policy produces trusts and combines, the government on the other hand persists in suing them as violators of the law. The high tariff protects the manufacturers from outside competition; then trusts are formed to boost prices and stamp out domestic competition. Thus the consumer gets fleeced by high prices on every hand with no hope of relief except a gradual reduction in the tariff. So high have prices been pushed that to build a ship in this country costs about twice as much as in Europe. It is plain that when the prices of the necessities of life are sent skyward, the working man must get higher wages in order to live at all. We mention the single matter of ships because there is talk now of passing a ship subsidy bill. In the first place the high tariff makes it unprofitable to build ships in this country and also makes the trade of such ships unprofitable. What is now proposed is to grant large subsidies in order to build up a merchant marine. There is little doubt that the combinations of organized wealth will take advantage of any such measure and defeat its purpose by turning the subsidies to their own private gain.

It appears, therefore, that the solution of the whole proposition resolves itself back to first principles of restoring competition by reducing the tariff so that the fictitious values now affixed to everything in this country may be overcome. It is time the government stopped passing laws to foster the trusts, while at the same time passing laws and engaging in expensive litigation to penalize the trusts. It is time the government policy were changed so that long established industries shall not be made the beneficiaries of government subsidies that enable them to extort exorbitant prices from the people for their products.

The plausible schemes by which the advocates of ship subsidies are endeavoring to promote their graft are quite transparent, and in this particular case are notable for their ingenuity in deceiving the people. The latest subsidy bill is described as one "to protect American trade and American shipping from foreign monopolies." Thanks to our high protective tariff foreign ships have a monopoly of our American trade. If the United States went to war tomorrow the government would not have American ships enough to serve as transports, because of the manner in which shippers have been put out of business by the excessive tariff put in force by the republican party.

DEMANDS FOR NEW CHARTERS

It is a somewhat strange coincidence that the cities of Lowell and Lawrence will appear before the legislature this year asking for new city charters and both cities choosing practically the same form of charter—a slight modification of the Des Moines instrument.

It is remarkable also that the practical politicians of both cities oppose this new form of charter. In both cities, too, there seems to be a very general willingness to cut away from party lines in municipal affairs in order to test the claims of those who insist that with the elimination of the party designation we can have better results in city politics. The friends of good government are willing to concur in any change of this kind, willing in fact to adopt any course that offers a reasonable guarantee of better government.

What the city of Lowell wants is a government that will conduct the city's business on business principles. The people are tired of the double-headed city council that results in so many wrangles, so many deadlocks and such discouraging delay of business. When both branches have got tired wrangling over any point of difference, they may come to an agreement that will be unacceptable to the mayor. Then comes the executive veto, causing more delay and more wrangling.

The provisions of the proposed charter as we understand it would completely stop all this nonsense. The mayor would not have the power of veto on the actions of the council of which he is a member. The council could conduct the city's business as a board of directors, sitting around a table and discussing in a business fashion what is best for the city's interest in every step taken. Although each member of the council will be assigned to look after one or more of the departments, yet he will be under the control of the entire body, so that there is still a guarantee of safety against any extravagance by an individual member. The presumption is, that the citizens would elect a more competent set of men to fill the five offices than they have been electing for the double-headed city council. The number to be chosen will be so small that every voter could easily find out the qualifications of the candidates and thus vote more intelligently. Moreover, the business could be done more promptly and very opportunity of doing a thing at the right time and in the right way could be taken advantage of with good results to the city.

Considerable objection is made to the small number of members to constitute the governing body. The number is large enough if it be made up of the right men. Of course if the voters should be untrue to themselves and elect five or even three weak or dishonest men to the council, the situation would be dangerous to the city. But the voters even then are not without a remedy, for they hold in their hand at all times the power of recall for any or all elected officials. That is a power that has not been provided for in any of the old city charters. It might never be required but it is well to have it in order to prevent officials from forgetting their duty. If the city council so chosen would refuse to enact any measure demanded by the people, then the voters and taxpayers through the referendum provided also in this charter could compel them to enact the measure or could enact it over their heads. Thus, then, it appears that under this new form of charter the people would have immeasurably greater power than they ever had under any of the old city charters and hence the talk of removing the power farther away from the people is sheer nonsense. The power is concentrated in the hands of the voters so that they can use it effectively whenever they please if the officials do not perform their duty properly. That is all the guarantee that any charter can offer, and in our opinion the voters should be anxious to get such power placed in their hands in order that they can hold the whip-hand at all times over their elected officials. At the present time a great many men are unwilling to run for public office because as things go most men are afraid to get mixed in the wrangles, the brawls and the charges that are inseparably connected with elections and office-holding generally. It is hoped that under the new charter the political atmosphere will be cleared and purified so that no man need be afraid of losing his reputation or his standing in the community by running for public office.

SEEN AND HEARD

He asked her hand in marriage and she told him to go to her father. Later she told the story of the proposal to some of her girl friends, and this is what she said:

"I told him to go to my father. I knew that he knew my father was dead."

I knew that he knew the life father had led,

And I know that he knew what I meant when I said:

"Go to my father."

What doth it profit a man to gain office if he lose his honor?

There is considerable satisfaction, at times, in knowing that a girl doesn't mean all she says.

If she isn't criticizing their clothes, she's criticizing their manners or something else." Her aunts are just the same. Her mother was not like that but of course she was a half-dead-and-alive specimen anyway. But her aunts are the limit. She has real good clothes. Of course they are old-fashioned, but she seems to have a way of putting them on that makes her look even more ridiculous than nature intended, and that's saying a good deal.

SHE is not as much to blame, perhaps, as some of those girls who put every cent on their back that they earn. Now take Josie _____.

I know for an actual fact that she has just half starved herself just because she is crazy about nice clothes. And then she never looks half decent. I've heard that little slype Gladys criticizes her, too."

There is a lad in Boston, the son of a well-known writer of history, who has evidently profited by such observations as he may have overheard his father utter touching certain phases of British empire-building. At any rate, the boy showed a shrewd notion of the opinion not infrequently expressed in regard to the righteousness of "British occupation." It was he who handed in the following essay on the making of a British colony:

"Africa is a British colony. I will tell you how England does it. First she gets a missionary; when the missionary has found a specially beautiful and fertile tract of country, he gets all his people round him and says: 'Let us pray,' and when all the eyes are shut up goes the British flag."

"What shall I write?" he quoted Mr. Roosevelt as asking.

JUDGE McGINN

BEGINS CAREER BY SETTING PRISONERS FREE

PORLAND, Ore., Jan. 14.—Declaring that iron cages are for beasts, not men, and that the penitentiaries are too full now, Henry E. McGinn, newly elected circuit judge for this county, has begun his judicial career by freeing prisoners convicted in his court. He has been dubbed "Fresh Start" McGinn, for he believes all but hardened offenders can be turned from the error of their way and made into useful citizens.

During his first three days on the bench, Judge McGinn freed five prisoners brought before him. They were all young, and the Judge believed they could be made into something more useful than convicts. Charges against them were as follows: Harry Simpson, 22 years old, larceny in a store and attempting to shoot arresting officer, sentenced to one year, and paroled. James Bell, 24, passing bad checks, pleaded guilty, and released pending good behavior. Thomas Shea, 20, larceny from store, pleaded guilty and sentenced to one year and paroled. George LaDoux, 21, larceny from store, pleaded guilty, sentenced to one year and paroled. Robert Wilson, charged with larceny from store, pleaded not guilty and released on own recognizance.

"When a man is physically ill, he is sent to a hospital," says Judge McGinn, "when he is mentally ill he is sent to an asylum, and when he is morally ill he is sent to jail and plunged deeper into the depths, when what he needs in most cases is treatment."

The penitentiary is no place for any

HOW THEY SOLVED THE LUNCH PROBLEM

THIS is the way three girls, stenographers employed by a large New York business house, have solved the lunch problem. The firm has moved recently into new and handsome quarters in a part of town where the assortment of nearby restaurants range from those of the very expensive class to cafés in which tablecloths are considered luxuries and not necessities. In other words, the girls were "up against it" when, at 12 o'clock, the pangs of hunger asserted themselves.

One of the trio, a veritable home-

$4. This stove when ready for business was attached by a wire to the center light and anchored on the large luncheon table in the middle of the room. For protection to the table an asbestos mat was placed under the electric heater.

Then there was a small but necessary assortment of cooking utensils to buy. This was the material selected as food heated more quickly in this metal than in the more attractive enameled ware. Plates, cups and saucers from the ten cent store helped out the supply of handless cups and nicked serving of chocolate is served on alternate days, with canned soups as a first course. The staff of life takes the form of six rolls, bought every day for 5 cents from a convenient bakery, which are made into sandwiches with fillings of cold ham or tongue. Of course there is the usual assortment of olives, jellies and pickles, without which no girl's spread is complete.

And even after all these goodies have been provided and the weekly farer stocked with sugar and the butter jar filled there is now and then enough money left for a splurge, a culinary maker by instinct, had a happy thought. "Let's pool our luncheon money, girls, and form a midday club and do our own cooking." The idea met with instant approval.

These girls are especially fortunate in having at hand a most attractive retiring room, sunny and bright, which has been furnished for them with comfortable mission furniture and walls hung with art green burlap. This apartment they have converted between the hours of 12 and 1 into a combination kitchenette and dining room.

The first outlay of funds for the enterprise was a bit steep, for there was an electric stove to buy, a one drum affair, which, through the commercial influence of the firm's engineer, was purchased for a trifle less than dishes that gradually found their way from the girls' homes to the office. The "small silver" was also donated by mothers. Indeed, one might say that the mutum in parvo theory was worked overtime in table service. The office sponge holder often provides a fine receptacle for the gelatin, which is a favorite dessert in the luncheon menu.

Now, having equipped the luncheon plant with running gear, 50 cents a week is put into the jackpot by each of the girls for "eats" for the six midday meals. Saturday being a half holiday, no provision is made for this luncheon.

And such good things as the cooks are making—curled eggs à la India, creamed oysters, omelet and chicken croquettes. Coffee or a delicious cup plunge of awful extravagance, which not infrequently takes the form of a chocolate layer cake beautifully decorated on top with walnuts.

Monday is donation day, and each girl brings some dainty from home as a surprise for the luncheon club.

"But oh, me, and oh, my! There is no dishwashing machine in the outfit, and it falls to the lot of each girl, turn about, to 'tidy up,' but this operation is robbed of its hardship through the good natured jolliness the victim gets from the lazy members who watch her work. Taken all in all, the club is a glorious success. Good wholesome food is obtained, money is saved, and there is always time for a twenty minute walk on Broadway before it's time to get back to the typewriter.

STAIN ERADICATORS.

Inky fruit or vegetable stains on fingers are inexorable, as they can be easily removed.

The quickest eradicator is a piece of pumice stone kept on the wash stand. Wet before using and rub steadily, but not vigorously, as otherwise the skin may suffer.

For stains under nails and in places where pumice stone will not reach oxalic acid is good. Get a solution from your druggist, telling him for what purpose you wish to use it and have the bottle plainly marked "polish."

IN a waist lining there are always two darts at each side of the front. The ones nearest the center front should be very little more than half an inch in depth at the widest part and, of course, taper off to nothing above and below. The second darts can be as deep as necessary. It is in these that all superfluous fullness must be taken up.

If, however, you are very broad across the bust and very small waisted in comparison it is sometimes necessary to deepen the darts nearest the center front a little more, but this does not often happen. Suppose that your bust is thirty-six inches and your waist measurement only twenty-two inches, not by any means an unusual occurrence, you are not a "stock" size and so cannot get a paper pattern that will fit both your waist and bust.

If you are wise you will choose the pattern with the correct bust measurement. It is easy to take in the waist, but it isn't easy to increase the size of the bust in a pattern that is too small there.

Suppose you need a skirt pattern and have rather big hips. Don't get a pattern with exactly correct waist measurement. Get one with waist measurement two inches larger than your actual waist; then there will be plenty of spring on the hips, while the waist is easily taken in just a little at each seam.

If your waist is large remember that a narrow striped material carefully cut is a great help in making it look smaller, and if you are stout it will help to make you look slim.

Here is a rule to bear in mind: The strip that begins on the outside of the shoulder seam should run at such an angle that it will be about one inch from the center back at the waist. A tuck running from the waist to the shoulder is very becoming to an overplump figure.

The device is a yardstick. A banker's pin is introduced through the measure at the number of inches the skirt is to hang from the floor. The end of the measure is rested perpendicularly through the material of the skirt. A twist of the wrist lifts the skirt, and a chalk mark may be placed at the point where the pin goes through the fabric, and so on all round the skirt.

A FANCY FOR EARLY SPRING.

A PRETTY notion in children's millinery for early spring is a trimming of narrow ball fringe used to finish the brim of the fascinating mushroom shape such as is here illustrated. In this instance a fancy white satin braid hat with underbrim facing of lace and ribbon scarf of white satin is trimmed with yellow straw fringe.

SPRING'S NEW COTTON FABRICS

IT is a little early to speak of the spring cottons perhaps, but each year women are realizing more and more the comfort of getting the spring and summer dressmaking out of the way before the necessity for wearing the clothes is upon them.

For weeks the importers have been busy about the coming styles, and they are now in a position to reveal to the favored few the secrets of the trade. One fact is assured—everything is to be bordered, from exquisitely sheer materials at several dollars a yard to the most inexpensive of fabrics.

In the hunt for new effects in these borders the designers have turned to ancient Egypt for inspiration. Persian effects have not lost their vogue by any means, but the Egyptian motif is paramount.

The most original borders show the stiff lines and odd color effects peculiar to Egyptian art. One Parisian designer has confessed wandering out to the Place de la Concordia and copying the hieroglyphics on the sides of the obelisk as inspiration for his most successful borders. In the heavier materials, these Egyptian borders seem rather crude and unattractive, but transferred to a thin light cotton muslin where the open mesh makes a large percentage of the color disappear the effect is charming. There is a delightful headed net that takes its name from that of Cleopatra and sells from $6 to $12 a yard.

One of the really new fabrics is dotted swiss with a border in colors. Printing on aviss has never been attempted before, and judging from the result it is a wonder the process has been postponed so long. The rareness of the material enhances the delicacy of the designs, and the contrast between the border and the body of the fabric is a point in its favor. In nearly all the bordered goods a plain selvage band is used and next a floral or a Persian or Egyptian border four or five inches wide.

Marquetté is another material that lends itself well to bordered effects. In plain or striped designs with a narrow conventional border or with a wide floral design that trails off into the body of the material to the depth of eighteen or twenty inches with a bold band of color at the edge or with a selvage broken by dots or rings in white the inexpensive cotton marquetté sets are most alluring.

French tulip which resembles Brussels nut is especially lovely in these bordered designs and will be extensively worn. Cotton valles are taking on new leases of life when beautified with the new designs. Chaille, too, is feeling the bordering touch.

A white ground is used more than any other in these cotton fabrics, and yet there are some delightful effects obtained from pale colors, such as blue, pink, lavender or gray, which have borders in openwork embroidery.

ARE GIRLS GOING IN FOR ROUGE?

IN certain smart sets of society the girls this winter have been going rather heavily for painting their cheeks and tinting their lips. Good judges who have watched the ways of American women prophesy, however, that it is a craze of the moment and nothing more.

"Don't get excited," said a matron to a man friend who had seen a girl he admired showing unmistakable traces of the rouge pot and was overcome with horror thereby. "It is a fad that will pass. Women in good society in America have always looked with suspicion on those of their number who have painted or who used powder in visible quantities, even when they only touched up to conceal the traces of too much dancing or the ravages of time. Our women aren't going to forget tradition and bloom out in false colors. Englishwomen of all classes use rouge powder, lip salve and eye pencils, and they deceive nobody. But most American girls trust to exercise and care to keep their complexions in condition. The fad for Paris makeup began at the summer resorts last season, and it isn't going to spread except among women who motor a lot. As for the girl you saw rouged the other night, I happen to know that she got such a talking to from some of her older friends that she has vowed never to do so again."

BATHING THAT CLEANS AND BEAUTIFIES.

Don't think because you jump into the tub every day, using soap and water, that your bath is complete. Water as it comes from the tap is too hard to use on the ordinary skin, so a cupful of the following mixture should be added to the tub of water when you are about to take a bath. One and one-half pounds of borax, one-half pound of soda and one-half pound of aromatic spirits of ammonia.

These ingredients may be mixed in a larger quantity and kept in a glass or stone jar tightly covered and ready for use.

Take a daily plunge into lukewarm water, followed by a cold spray or sponge. If you cannot stand cold water make the sponge several degrees cooler than the bath, preferably in the morning. In addition to this daily bath there should be a warm bath taken at least twice a week at a temperature sufficiently high to induce vigorous perspiration. These hot baths should be taken at night. Just before retiring is good time.

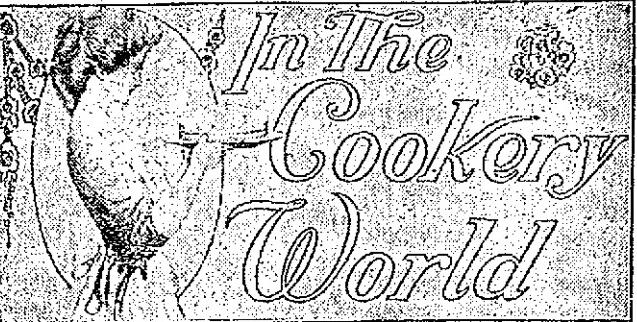

A MARKING HINT.

A safe scale of sizes to use in embroidering initials on household linens is as follows:

Tablecloths, letters two inches long. Napkins, letters three-quarters of an inch long.

Sheets, letters two inches long. Pillowcases, letters one inch long. Other articles, size of letters proportioned accordingly.

Fashions in marking change, so that anywhere from half an inch to four or even five inches long is the mode, but these are safe and sane measurements for the conservative embroiderer.

"WHAT shall we have for breakfast on a cold morning?" asks the housewife. My dear madam, what better than a piping hot dish of country sausage and popovers? Doesn't it sound good? But there is a right and a wrong way even with sausages and popovers.

First as to the sausage. A woman who knows drops them into boiling water first and allows them to boil until nearly done. Then she takes them out and fries as usual till brown. This gives them a much more delicate and less greasy taste than when cooked the usual way.

The popovers are simply itself, with plenty of muscle. For in this recipe air bubbles that you beat in take the place of baking powder. The recipe calls for a cupful of flour, a cupful of milk, an egg and a half teaspoonful of salt.

Beat the egg a little at first, then add the milk and flour and salt and beat a great deal more, or until your arm hangs limp at your side. At any rate, the mixture must be full of bubbles. Now pour into hot well greased gem pans and bake for thirty minutes. This will make six popovers. Eat and rejoice.

VESTA VICTORIA AS A COOK.

In buying vegetables avoid carrots, beets and similar roots that have their green tops removed.

As withered or discolored tops would betray vegetable age, the dealer carefully cuts or trims them off.

Roots with the earth clinging to them are usually fresh. Roots that are too free from earth and very clean looking are usually stale and old. They look clean because they have been freshly washed in cold water. Dealers have not time enough to clean fresh vegetables simply for the joy of doing it. When they do so you can be sure that it is to their advantage.

TRY THESE STUFFED PEPPERS.

Have you ever tasted peppers stuffed with oysters? If not you have a treat in store for you. Cut away the stem end of the large peppers and remove the seeds. Chop one pepper with one-half onion and saute them until well browned. Parboil in their own liquor for five minutes one pint of oysters (canned oysters will do), pour over these three cupfuls of breadcrumbs and enough oyster liquor to moisten. Season with pepper and salt and mix in the sauted pepper and onion. Fill the peppers with this mixture, including three oysters for each pepper. Sprinkle the top with breadcrumbs which have been moistened with melted butter and bake in a moderate oven until brown.

WHEN BUYING VEGETABLES.

Vesta Victoria, the popular vaudeville artist, has two hobbies—trimming hats and cooking.

"Why," said Miss Victoria recently, "I often go into the hotel kitchen and cook my own dishes." And she continued: "Would you like to try one of my recipes? It's called a Victoria hot pot. It's a kind of casserole dish. You take some good, thick steak and put a nice layer on the bottom of the pan. Then you put on a layer of sliced potatoes and onions and seasoning. Then there's another layer of little lamb chops, and you keep repeating this until it is to their advantage.

FOR MANNISH TOGS' ADORER

THOUGH most of this year's styles are indisputably feminine in type, there are here and there models which have the tailored, manly character which some women always prefer for street wear. Such a model is the smart street suit by Bernard, in which the lines of the skirt and coat are beautifully proportioned.

The short and rather narrow skirt has an individual panel cut and is circular, slitting flatly over the hips. The short jacket has a transverse piece around the bottom, which makes the garment different from and more distinctive than the ordinary style of coat. The fetching walking hat is in the Tyrolean style.

SPIRIT OF RIVALRY

Among Nations is Promoted by Vast Armaments, Says Tawney

NEW YORK, Jan. 14.—Emphatic opposition to the fortification of the Panama canal, urged by President Taft, by Representative David J. Foster, chairman of the house committee on foreign affairs, and a declaration by Chairman Tawney of the house appropriations committee, that great armaments are a temptation toward war, marked a joint mass meeting of the New York Peace society and the People's Institute, held here last night.

The vast armaments tend to promote a spirit of rivalry among nations to excel each other, said Mr. Tawney.

"When it was heralded about the world that England had launched a battleship of 18,000 tons, 3000 tons in excess of our then largest battleship, the initial cost of fortifications would seem advisable to submit to congress a supplemental estimate for 20,000-ton battleship. As a conclusive argument in support of the authorization of such a ship our chief executive at that time (Theodore Roosevelt) said to me: 'I want to be able to say when I go out of office that I have authorized the construction of the biggest battleship the world has ever seen.'

Although congress at that time did nothing more than authorize the preparation of plans for a battleship of that size, at its next session, under the pressure of a manufactured Japanese war scare, it provided for the ships. But before the adjournment of congress England laid the keels of two 23,000 ton dreadnaughts and in order to gratify a personal and national ambition to excel England, congress authorized the construction of two battleships of 26,000 tons displacement."

Mr. Tawney's subject was "The Cost of Armed Peace."

LOWELL OPERA HOUSE

The Augusta Perry company will conclude its engagement here at the Opera House with today's matinee and evening performance, presenting for the afternoon bill, "The Street Singer's Revenge," and tonight a laughable comedy drama, "My Wife Won't Let Me." Prices for this engagement are 10 cents to all parts of the house for the matinee and 10 and 25 cents at night.

FAMOUS STAR COMING

When Joseph F. Sheehan, the great tenor, brings his company to the Opera House next Tuesday, Jan. 17, for a performance of "Il Trovatore" it will be the last opportunity of hearing this wonderful artist for some time, as Mr. Sheehan's contracts for the next two years call for his exclusive appearance in Chicago and New York, and in order to make his farewell tour a memorable one he has brought together an excellent company for a performance of that popular opera, "Il Trovatore."

It has long been known that the role of "Manjoni" in "Il Trovatore" is the greatest in Mr. Sheehan's repertoire of over 100 operas. No other living tenor, not even Caruso, takes the high "C" at the end of the "Si queira pira," the greatest solo. He has sung this one role over 500 times.

The rest of his all star cast has been selected, each and everyone, as being the best in the country for the roles assigned to them.

Elaine De Sellec, the eminent French contralto, has made a special study of the role of "Azucena," and her interpretation of the character, as well as her beautiful voice, has caused a sensation since her arrival in this country.

Grace Nelson, the prima donna soprano, is by voice and temperament especially fitted for the role of "Leonora."

Louis LaVale, the famous English baritone from the Royal Opera, London, England, has no superior as the "Count di Luna," and so on down the list; even the minor parts are taken by artists who rank high in their profession.

The chorus is the best voiced and trained of any ever heard in a Sheehan company, and that is saying a great deal.

The scenic production and electrical effects will be of the finest, and all indications point that the Opera House will not be able to hold all who will try to hear this great company.

MADAME X

Following the close of the Boston engagement Madame X will be seen here at the Opera House. It is expected now that the Lowell engagement will be for three days, although it is possible it may be for only two.

There will also be a carefully selected series of the best moving pictures.

For the benefit of patrons who are especially interested in Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Mann, it may be stated that they will appear respectively at 2 and 5.40 and at 9 o'clock in the evening.

COLONIAL THEATRE

Those who have not seen the vaudeville and pictures being shown at the Colonial for the last half of this week are missing a real treat. Roser's wonderfully trained dogs; the Great De Forest, a female impersonator; Mason and Burke in a dramatic act, and the Gatland Sisters, who help make up a good bill, close their engagement to-night.

Tomorrow there will be a sacred concert at which six acts of vaudeville as well as four reels of pictures will be seen.

For the first half of next week another good show is promised.

The feature act will be Ontbank & Blanché, a team of acrobats who make a specialty of jumping up stairs on their heads; Loring-Parquette and company of four in a vaudeville farce, "The Gibson Girl;" Those Kids, singing, dancing and comedy artists, and Arthur Plumb, musical comedian, will be the others to entertain.

THEATRE VOYONS

"The Italian Barber," a Biograph subject, is the feature of today's program at the Theatre Voyons and it goes big and deserves every bit of its popularity. "An Intrigue" is a pleasing dramatic subject well staged and finely costumed and the comedy "Love Under Difficulties" is a genuine laugh. "The Funeral of Count Tolstoy" is an interesting news picture and one most impressive as it shows the burial of this great Russian in the forest as was his wish. Tomorrow the usual excellent Sunday program will be given and the pictures will be unapproachable in quality, newness and variety. The musical features are of the best and all are well given.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC

Tuesday will be the last chance to see the great educated horse, "Col. Fred" and you surely will find it worth while witnessing his act, which includes many new tricks. Other acts on the bill are Mary Davis, singing comedian, and Besse Bill & Co. in a comedy sketch, entitled "An Interrupted Rehearsal." A sacred concert will be given on Sunday. Miss May E. Whittroy, the well known soprano, has been added to the singing staff of this house and will be heard in selected solo on Sunday.

The who follow vaudeville will also catch at the name of Gilbert Losse, the soloist and comedian. Mr. Losse is familiar to audiences all over this section of the country through his former appearance with Lew Dockstader's minstrels. He is now in vaudeville and comes to this city as "the fashion plate comedian" in an offering which is sure to enhance his reputation and delight his audiences.

Wednesday are Mr. and Mrs. Darnle Mann, those popular "way down Maine folks," presenting an original pastoral comedy played called "Mandy Hawkins." Both Mr. and Mrs. Mann are well known to followers of vaudeville all over the east, as character artists of unusual powers, while the little play in which they are to appear here is said to be one of the strongest and most delightful bits of this kind on any of the circuits today.

Mr. and Mrs. Mann carry all their own scenery and the presentation is marked by some unusual electrical effects. It is one of the best sketches presented in Lowell for many, many months.

STRONG OPPOSITION

Anti-Lodge Men Were Active at the Republican Conference

BOSTON, Jan. 14.—The republican members of the legislature who went to Representative Russell Woods' "fair play" conference on the United States senatorship yesterday proved that the democrats are not stronger than they are in the talk lines.

For two hours and a half yesterday afternoon after the adjournment of the legislature champions of Lodge and Ames discussed the senatorship and the issues in the contest.

They adjourned without having accomplished much beyond an exchange of well known views.

The Lodge men led by White of Brookline, Underhill of Somerville, Cushing of Boston, Wolcott of Milton and Washburn of Worcester, went into the Wood "fair play" conference to have some fun with the young Cambridge anti-Lodge republicans who had sent out the call for the meeting, and were doing a very fair job at it until Cogswell of Lynn and Greenwood of Everett, also anti-Lodge, told them that the joshing game would have to stop as they came there for serious purpose.

After Representative Wolcott had named Washburn for chairman and the latter had declined and in turn nominated Cushing, who also refused on the ground that he had to leave town on an early train, Mr. Wood was made chairman of his own meeting.

The Ames and anti-Lodge men were well down front at the meeting. They did not mind their words. Some of them talked like real democrats in denouncing Lodge, the special interests, the tariff robbers and the possessors of predatory wealth.

Washburn Defends Lodge

Representative Crane of Cambridge started the serious speech making, saying that he would like to hear from Representative Washburn of Worcester, "man who cannot be coerced."

Representative Washburn said he had not meant to be flippan in declining the chair. He had felt for months that the legislature should re-elect Henry Cabot Lodge. The members have to vote on this question. They have the facts before them and should vote so they will have the endorsement of their concience.

Personally, he would not care to go back to Worcester and tell his constituents that he had acted inequitably against an old and well-tried public servant. It comes with ill grace for the congressman from Lowell to criticize Henry Cabot Lodge. Where does the congressman himself stand on the subject of direct nominations?

"If we had direct nominations instead of election, we would have had—not Henry Cabot Lodge—but Eugene N. Foss as our senator now," said Mr. Washburn.

Nason Opposes Lodge

Senator Nason of Haverhill said that Mr. Washburn had failed to answer the criticisms of the senior senator. He charged that an attempt was made to pledge him for Henry Cabot Lodge two years ago and the same thing happened in other districts in Massachusetts. The people of this state favor direct nominations, the income tax, the initiative and referendum, etc., and these are opposed by Senator Lodge.

Senator Nason said that personally he favored the election of Congressman Ames of Lowell, whose platform he read. No other republican of prominence has come out against the senior senator; no other candidate has declared his principles.

Lodge Ought to Resign

Representative Barlow of Lowell said he knew that this was a very heated question. "It is one for which our action will be criticised no matter what our stand you take. All the manufacturers in my district are very much in favor of the re-election of Senator Lodge, but the rank and file of the people in both parties are opposed and if the republican party is to hold its control in this state then he must be defeated.

"If Senator Lodge is re-elected I should say that he ought to resign immediately for the interest of the party welfare or else we shall have the very same issues that we had last fall and Gov. Foss or some man of his caliber will continue to hold down the governor's chair as long as he sits in the senate of the United States."

Mr. Washburn of Worcester asked Mr. Barlow whether if Mr. Lodge is to be repudiated Senator Crane and President Taft would not have to be repudiated also, because their records are just the same.

Mr. White and Cape Cod

Mr. Barlow said that perhaps he was not as familiar with the records of the men as he should be. He had heard very little against Mr. Crane; there was a little against President Taft, but there was an enormous lot against Mr. Lodge. "I believe," continued Mr. Barlow, "that whether his record is right or wrong, it makes no difference so far as the welfare of our party and state is concerned."

Representative Underhill of Somerville asked if the gentlemen really believed that the same feeling exists today as at the time of the election, and if so how he accounted for the balance on the Capes.

Mr. Barlow said that he was informed that after the representative from Provincetown had sent out his 180 letters asking for an expression of popular opinion that Mr. White of Brookline went down to the Cape and interviewed the voters, causing them to sign requests to their representatives to vote for Senator Lodge.

Mr. Underhill asked if assuming that was so, was not the result an indication that there had been a change of sentiment.

Mr. Barlow thought that a foolish question to ask.

Representative Underhill suggested that the old saying might be applicable to the change of sentiment of the people, "You can fool some of the people all the time; you can fool all of the people some of the time; but you can't fool all of the people all of the time."

Representative Barlow came back quick with, "The people last fall seemed to indicate that they had been footloose all the time." He acknowledged that he was for Mr. Ames first, but that whoever it might be, they should unite on somebody to defeat Senator Lodge.

Still another lady had dry salt rheum in both palms of her hands every fall of the year. They used to be so painful she could scarcely walk. I used Cuticura Remedies which cured her. Now she can walk again. Many skin diseases cases come under my observation, and in every instance I always recommend Cuticura Remedies as they always give quite satisfaction. One case in particular was that of a lady friend of mine who, when a child, was afflicted with eczema which covered her face and hands entirely, breaking out at intervals with severe torture. She could not go to school because of the constant irritation. I used Cuticura Remedies and got her to get at once a set of the Cuticura Remedies. After the use of only one set she was perfectly well."

THE LOCAL MILLS

Are Selling All the Goods That They Make

In an Associated press despatch from Boston, yesterday, it was stated that the cotton manufacturers of the country are considering the advisability of adopting a drastic curtailment policy, because of expensive raw material and an indifferent goods policy.

Lowell mill agents, while aware of the almost prohibitive price of raw material and poor goods market, were not aware that the manufacturers were considering a curtailment policy.

The Lowell mills are running fairly full at the present time and are selling all the goods they make. For several weeks, during the very dry spell, there were a great many idle spindles in Lowell, because the Locks & Canals could afford to allow the mills only a limited amount of water. The recent rains, however, have made it possible for the Locks & Canals company to allow the mills all the water they want with the result that the erstwhile idle spindles are now in operation.

A mill official in conversation with a reporter for The Sun, yesterday, said: "Few people in Lowell had any idea of the number of spindles that were idle in Lowell, because of shortage of water. In one mill, more than 1,000 spindles were idle and in other mills the number of idle spindles averaged about the same." Now that there is plenty of water most of these spindles have been put in operation again and I think the mills are selling about all the goods they make. But selling all they make doesn't mean that they are selling at a profit."

An official of the Massachusetts mills stated that a shortage of water was responsible for the silencing of between 300 and 400 spindles in that mill and that those spindles are now being operated. There is lots of water at the present time and it is not expected that there will be another shortage for months to come. About all of the rain came after the ground was frozen with the result that most of the water found its way to the river.

The curtailment policy spoken of in yesterday's despatch is not reflected in any of the local mills, and certainly not in the Massachusetts mills. This corporation is installing new machinery in its new mills, the spinning and weaving mill in Merrimack square and the carding mill on the Concord river line. The Massachusetts mills are also hastening to completion the boiler house 250 by 50 feet, with a chimney 250 feet high, on land reclaimed from the Merrimack river. The steel work of the new boiler house is now complete. The new spinning and spinning and carding mills will be in operation within three or four months.

The Textile School

A new Davis & Furber dry dressing frame and a 40 end jack spooler of the latest type have been installed in the warp preparation room of the Lowell Textile school, and a new Ray grinder has been installed in the wool department.

A new electric machine for the making of blue prints has been installed in the engineering department.

It is of the bright type and is capable of making 14x24 inch prints at a time. Washing and drying tanks are also being erected to be used in connection with it. This will be a big improvement in the engineering department, as blue prints can now be made without the aid of the sun, whereas formerly it was necessary to wait for a sunny day in order to develop the plates.

Carroll Bros. are now equipping the dyeing laboratory in the new building with the latest type of experimental dyeing machinery. The dye baths are of what is known as the steam coil type and differ from the present ones in that they are placed on a skeleton frame.

To Become Overseer

Charles H. Philbrick has resigned his position with the Madison Woolen Co., Madison, Me., to become overseer of carding for the Merrimack Woolen Co. in this city.

Wood Worsted Mills

A big real estate deal, consummated in Lawrence last September, by which the Wood Worsted mills of that city acquired nearly 16,000 square feet of land and the property that occupied it on the south side of Merrimack street between Dolan court and the B. & N. car barn has just gone on record at the registry of deeds.

The sale was made by Frank Andrews. It is believed that the realty, which consists of three adjoining tracts of land, consisting of 36,000 sq. feet, 10,000 square feet and 5,000 square feet, respectively, will be reserved for future mill development by the American Woolen company.

In addition to each floor being a fire and waterproof unit, the building is divided into four sections by concrete fire walls extending from basement to roof. There is, consequently, 48 compartments in any of which a fire could occur and the section be flooded without any damage to the contents of the rest of the building. The building is sprinkled throughout, and all window frames and sashes are of metal, fitted with wire glass. The floors are all of the mushroom or girder type, this affecting a very considerable saving in the height from floor to floor.

The Appleton Mills

Four new upright boilers are being installed by the Appleton company, which will add about 1,500 horsepower to the plant.

Bigelow Carpet Company

The Wilton looms of the Bigelow Carpet Co. are now operated by electricity.

Steam Turbine Station

The Boott mills will, within a short time, erect a new high pressure steam turbine station on the site now occupied by the boiler house of the plant, and the present engine room will be rebuilt.

Hamilton Mfg. Co.

It is stated that the Hamilton Mfg. Co. will build a large bleach house in the spring. It has been known for some time that the company contemplated the erection of a bleach house, and that it will do bleaching for mills other than its own. It is also said that the company will turn its stockhouse into weave rooms.

It Is True

That we do not sell a dollar bottle of some of the patent medicines for 5¢, and make a great splash about it, and then sell you something else for $1.50 that is not worth 7¢.

We sell our drugs and medicines at a small legitimate profit and do not try to run a department store, under the guise of a drug store.

Better do you do stop trading where you will be sure of a square deal.

6 O'CLOCK THE CHARTER BILL

Filed at State House Today by
Rep. Marchand

Rep. Barlow Files Bill to Tax
Stock Transfer—Senator Hib-
bard Wants Open Season for Deer in Middlesex County—
Other New Bills of Local Interest

Today is the last day for filing bills and petitions in the legislature, and Senator Hibbard, Rep. Barlow and Rep. Marchand made hurried trips to the state house to get in belated bills before the time expired.

The three Lowell bills put in by the three Lowell men today were the charter bill presented by Rep. Marchand; the bill for an appropriation for the Textile school presented by Rep. Barlow and a bill closing certain roads in Lowell and Tyngsboro in the event of an automobile race next fall.

These are only a few of the Lowell bills presented as many others are still ready to be introduced.

An important bill introduced yesterday by Rep. Barlow calls for the taxing of stock transfer at the rate of 2 cents on every $100. This is done to get additional revenue for the state.

How to get more revenue and reduce the state tax has been the problem of the legislators and Rep. Barlow attempted to solve it by the introduction of the stock transfer bill. Although several attempts have been made to keep down the state tax if remains as high as ever, but the passage of the stock transfer bill will tend to reduce it.

Charter Committee Met

The drafting committee of the charter committee of 60 met at the board of trade rooms last evening and completed the draft of the new charter which was filed in the legislature by Rep. George E. Marchand today. The members of the drafting committee are William H. Wilson, chairman; John W. McEvoy, secretary; William A. Hogan, William N. Osgood, Chas. A. Anderson, secretary of the Trades & Labor council; Michael A. Lee and Walter H. Howe.

A meeting of the legislative committee was also held last evening, at which there were present Senator Joseph H. Hibbard and Representative Charles T. Kilpatrick; George E. Walsh, George H. Stevens and Ernest B. Barlow. There were speeches made by Chairman Wilson, Clouis Quellette, Thomas J. Goyette, A. G. Walsh, Frederic E. Fisher, William N. Osgood, William E. Sprout and Hon. John E. Drury.

An important change has been made in the original draft of the charter, one referring to the per cent of voters required to put into effect the initiative, referendum or recall. In the original draft in all other cities where the council form of government obtains 25 per cent of voters make each of these instruments operative. This has been sliced to 15 per cent in the case of the referendum and to 20 per cent in the recall and initiative.

The committee will begin a campaign of education at once.

RAILROAD LINES

Fighting Worst Storm
in Twenty Years

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Jan. 14.—With hundreds of men battling with the snow choked passages of the Sierras in an effort to keep the railroad lines clear and bring relief to the stalled overland passenger and mail trains, all the gigantic resources of the Southern Pacific and Western Pacific railroad companies are being brought to bear in fighting the worst snowstorm in the mountain districts in the last twenty years. Last night all east and west bound trains were moving on the Southern Pacific tracks through the Sierras and the snowdrifts, which were damaged by the heavy fall of snow the last two days, had been temporarily repaired.

Realizing the impossibility of forcing a passage through the snow drifts of six and eight feet deep, the Western Pacific railroad officials last night ordered its stalled east bound overland trains in Belden and Oroville to return to San Francisco and annul the overland in San Francisco which was ready waiting to start west.

STOCK MARKET

WAS HEAVY AT THE CLOSE
TODAY

Marked Failed to Hold Its Slight Improvement—Some of the Railroad Stocks Made Brisk Advances

NEW YORK, Jan. 14.—The feature of the opening of the stock market was extensive trading in U. S. Steel and Reading. Steel opened with a block of 9000 shares at 76 1/2 against 76 1/2 at yesterday's close. A block of Reading shares changed hands at 156 1/2 to 156 1/2, an advance of 1/2. Toledo, St. Louis & Western pfd. advanced slightly and became dull. N. Y. Central was weak on rumors that a large bond issue would soon be made. C. P. R. R., Reading and other stocks which advanced firmly yesterday fluctuated within a range of about half. The new city 1/2 per cent bonds sold at 10 1/2, compared with 101 for the old issue. Some weak spots cropped out in the inactive section. At 11 o'clock Lehigh Valley was bid up rapidly to 178 1/2, a gain of over a point, and the rest of the list immediately picked up sympathy.

The market closed heavy. The market failed to hold its slight improvement in the bulge of Lehigh Valley, subsequently selling for both accounts a point. U. P., St. Paul, South Pacific and Canadian Pacific slightly below yesterday's close, and N. Y. Central over a point. Liquidation in some of the industrials helped along the setback. American Beet Sugar losing two and Westinghouse Electric first pfd. 7 points. The Rock Island stocks and St. Louis and San Francisco second pfd. advanced briskly in spite of the general heaviness.

NIGHT EDITION

BATTLESHIP ARKANSAS

Largest Ever Constructed in This Country Was Launched Today

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 14.—Splashed by the traditional bottle of champagne, the battleship Arkansas, the largest warship ever constructed in this country, was launched this afternoon from the yards of the New York shipbuilding company at Camden, N. J. Miss Mary Macon, daughter of Representative Robert Macon of Helena, Ark., was the sponsor for the ship.

There was one unusual feature to the launching, the absence of an official delegation representing the state government of Arkansas. It has always been the custom for the governor of the state for which a ship has been named, to head the launching party or to be represented by some officially designated by him. The failure of Governor Donaghey or other official representatives to attend was due to a controversy between the governor and the navy department at Washington over the date of the launching, the governor wanting the launchings, the governor wanting the could make adequate arrangements to send an official party.

There was, however, quite a large delegation of Arkansans present. It included Congressman and Mrs. Macon and other members of the Arkansas congressional delegation, all of whom had been invited by the shipbuilding company. The navy department was officially represented by Beckman Winthrop, the assistant secretary of the navy, and a long list of rear-admirals and other officers. There was also a large delegation of congressmen from other states.

Miss Macon, carrying a large bunch of American beauty roses, was the center of attraction as she stood on the raised christening platform, calling for the word to name the great ship. With her was Miss Edith Ellerbe, the daughter of Congressman J. E. Ellerbe of South Carolina, the parents of both young women and others constituting the christening party. On another platform were gathered hundreds of invited guests and the whole scene was surrounded by thousands of spectators. As usual, the shipyard employees were given a holiday and nearly all of them were there to see the product of their labor slip into the waters of the Delaware.

There was doubt in the minds of some of the spectators as to the contents of the be-jubbed bottle Miss Macon held. Some people in Arkansas wanted her to use water from her native state but she would use whatever the shipbuilding company gave her.

When the critical moment arrived when the workmen had ceased hammering and sawing away the keel blocks and the great hull quivered and slowly began to move, Miss Macon crashed the bottle against the receding prow and exclaimed:

"I christen thee Arkansas."

The contents of the broken bottle foamed up as it splashed over the nose of the ship and all doubt as to the nature of the fluid was dispelled.

Following the launching, the officials of the company entertained the guests at a luncheon spread in one of the big buildings of the plant. The principal dimensions of the latest and largest addition to the navy are:

Length over all 562 feet; beam over armor 92.38; draft 28.6 inches; displacement 25,000 tons.

The contract for the ship calls for a speed of 20½ knots an hour.

When complete the Arkansas will have the greatest gunpowder to broadside fire of any ship afloat. The main armament will consist of 12 12-inch broadside guns mounted in six heavy armor protected turrets. For defense against torpedo boat attacks there will be a battery of 21 5-inch rapid fire guns. There will also be two submerged torpedo tubes and ten small guns. The total weight of broadside fire will be about 11,000 pounds. The armor bolts will have an average thickness of 10 inches.

The Arkansas will be turbine driven and will have 28,000 horsepower. The vessel will be fitted for a flagship and her complement will consist of 35 officers and 1030 men. The keel of the Arkansas was laid last January and at present the ship is about 60 per cent completed.

SCHOONER IS MISSING

MONCTON, N. B., Jan. 14.—Anxiety is felt for the safety of the three-masted schooner Theta, which sailed from Hillsboro, Dec. 3, for Philadelphia with a cargo of lumber. The schooner has not been heard from since she left the Bay of Fundy, Dec. 17, a few days before the heavy storm which wrecked numerous vessels. The Theta is owned by the Sumner company of this city. She was built at Chervier, N. S., in 1901 and registers 420 tons.

STATE CONVENTION

Of Union Carpenters Opens Here on Monday

The semi-annual state council of union carpenters will be held in this city, opening in Carpenters hall, 173 Merrimack street, and continuing for three days. About 100 delegates from all over the state will be in attendance.

The vanguard of the delegates arrived this morning and opened headquarters at the Merrimac hotel, where a meeting of the executive board will be held tomorrow at 3 p. m. and a meeting of the committee on credentials at 8 o'clock tomorrow evening. In addition to the state delegates, the presidents of the state councils of Rhode Island, Connecticut and New York are expected to be present. Mr. Humphrey O'Sullivan has furnished elaborate badges for the delegates which will be distributed to them upon their arrival.

The meeting will be opened at 8 o'clock Monday morning by President C. J. Monahan of the local district council, and Mayor Meanan is expected to be present to extend the welcome to the city. The meetings will then go into executive session, and the principal business of the first day will be the consideration of the problems of the woodworking shops and mills of the state to get the employees of these establishments who are not already in the unions to come under the banner of organized labor. On the afternoon of the second day the election of officers will be held.

On Tuesday evening a big open meeting and entertainment will be held to which every carpenter in Lowell and the neighborhood, whether he be a union man or not, is most cordially invited. There will be no distinction made between the organized and the unorganized. Prominent local citizens will make short addresses along with some of the visitors. On Wednesday the council will hear the reports of the different officers and committees. While the council is held semi-annually, the election of officers takes place annually.

The presiding officer at the council meeting will be State President John Franklin of Worcester. The other state officers are Vice President J. C. Goureaux of Westfield, Secretary F. Provost of Holyoke and Treasurer Herleux of Springfield. The presidents of the local unions are James McDonald, Union 49 and Orville Ouellette, Union 1910.

NEW STATE HIGHWAY THE STREET DEPT. County Commissioners' Work Probably Not Acceptable

Senator Hibbard Introduces Bill Providing for Proper Completion of Roads—Proposition to Place Lowell Bridges in Charge of County Which Will Mean a Saving to City

If the state highway commissioners or the county commissioners get away from Senator Hibbard in the matter of finishing up the proposed state highway between Lowell and Lawrence in a manner satisfactory to the highway commissioners, the Middlesex county commissioners had not done their part and that a tie-up would probably result at a time when the work of completing the road should be under way.

In order to preclude such a possibility Senator Hibbard yesterday introduced bills in the legislature providing, first, that the Middlesex county commissioners do the work in a manner satisfactory to the highway commissioners; secondly, that the highway commissioners be compelled to accept the road in whatever condition it might be presented to them and finally he introduced a resolve appropriating $50,000 for the completion of the road. Thus if these go through the legislature the road will be finished in proper manner despite the threatened opposition.

For County Bridges

Senators Hibbard and Bennett, the latter being interested in two roads in Lowell, have jointly introduced a measure to place all the bridges in Middlesex county crossing the Merrimack river under the charge of the county commissioners, a proposition which will mean a considerable saving of money to the city of Lowell. When the county has charge of a bridge it is required to pay 40 per cent of the maintenance of the bridge and the city or town in which the bridge is located, 60 per cent. Although Middlesex county maintains only one long bridge, the well-known Tyngsboro bridge, Essex county has charge of every bridge in the city of Lawrence and contributes annually 40 per cent of the cost of maintenance. In Lowell the city pays the entire cost of the maintenance of the Pawtucket, Alken street, Moody, and Centralville bridges over the Merrimack while if this bill goes through the county will be obliged to help to the extent of 40 per cent.

SENATOR JOSEPH H. HIBBARD

without delay they will have to go some.

Recently Senator Hibbard learned from apparently good sources that while the Essex county commissioners had completed the work in that county

Had Sand Gangs Out This Morning

Three sand gangs, with 17 teams were sent out by Sup't Putnam of the street department at 4 o'clock this morning to sand the streets, and there were places where the sand was badly needed. The sand for the streets is taken originally from the poor farm bank, so-called, and stored in the department yard for use when required. This has been a pretty easy winter for the street department so far as snow is concerned. This time last year the department had expended several thousands of dollars for snow shoveling.

It is rather late in the year for street work, but the street department has a gang of men in Clark road trying to finish a job begun some months ago, which includes the widening of the street and straightening of the lines. The men say there is very little frost in the ground for this time of the year. There is some sewer work going on, too, but it does not amount to more than odds and ends of old jobs.

The last pike has been driven in, the Lawrence street bridge job and work on the abutment on the southerly side has been begun. As soon as the second abutment has been finished the rest will be comparatively easy, and Sup't Putnam said today that he hoped to see the bridge open for travel before many weeks have passed.

The biggest loss in any one month was in December when property was destroyed to the extent of $21,360. In fact if it had not been for the two fires—one in the Institute building in Middle street and the other in the Gerrish property at the corner of Central and Prescott streets on December 30th, the loss for the entire year would be under $30,000.

That the loss this year was exceptionally low can be realized at a glance when it is taken into consideration that the fire loss in Lowell, in 1909 was $186,484.91, nearly three times as much as the loss last year.

There were 12 fires during the year where the loss was over $1000. The first big fire of the year was on February 22, when W. L. Parker's house in Wilder street was damaged to the extent of $1076. On March 7 fire broke out in the old freight house of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad at the end of Howard street, which was occupied as a storehouse by Fay Bros. & Hosford, and before it was extinguished $2000 damage to $11,207.95.

THE FIRE LOSS

CHIEF HOSMER

One of the Lowest in the History of Lowell

The fire loss for the year 1910 was $59,274.62, one of the lowest in the history of Lowell. On the night of April 27, there was a loss of $2364 by the fire which occurred in W. H. Williams' furniture store in Middlesex street and on May 6 a fire in the Ingham estate in Church street did damage to the extent of $1237.95.

On June 11 there was a fire at the Waterford mills in Lawrence street, where there was a loss of $2601.14.

During July and August there were no fires of any size, but on Sept. 27 fire broke out in L. C. Dodge's studio in High street and damaged the building and contents to the extent of $1496.60. On November 26 an automobile was burned on the upper boulevard and the loss on the machine was $1500.

December 6 the Thomas McKay property was damaged to the extent of $1135.65, and on December 11 the brook out in A. Demars' house in Pawtucket street, the loss on which was $1254.

On the morning of December 30th fire broke out in the plant of the Merrimack Engraving Co. in the Gerrish property in Central street, and before the flames were extinguished the loss to the building and the occupants amounted to $8,361.55.

On the night of the same day a dangerous blaze was discovered in the Institute building in Middle street, the greater portion of which is occupied by the A. G. Pollard Co. and the loss to the building and contents amounted to $11,207.95.

PREMIER LAURIER

Says Canada Will Not Suffer by Reciprocity With U. S.

OTTAWA, Ont., Jan. 14.—"I think that it may be possible for Canada to conclude some measure of reciprocity with the United States without injuring the farmers or the manufacturers in the Dominion."

This was the reply given by Sir Wilfrid Laurier, the premier, yesterday, to the declaration of the Canadian manufacturers that the United States may be ready for reciprocity but Canada is not.

COUNT WAS SENTENCED

TOURS, France, Jan. 14.—Count D'Aulby DeGatigny was convicted today and sentenced to one month's imprisonment. D'Aulby was accused by the Duchess De Choissoul-Praslin with fraud in connection with the sale to her and her late husband, Charles Hamilton Palie of Boston of a collection of pictures. The duchess withdrew her complaint after the case had been in the courts for several days but the public prosecutor refused to stop the proceedings. The defendant maintained his good faith in his dealings with the Palies, claiming that if the pictures were not what he represented them to be it was because he had been deceived himself. He also defended his claim to the self-imposed title of count. His wife was a Boston woman.

SAYS CHICKENS WITH SHORT TOE-NAILS ARE BEST LAYERS

COLUMBIA, Mo., Jan. 14.—"Chickens with short toenails are the best layers," said Prof. J. E. Rice, an expert at Cornell university, addressing students of the agricultural college of the University of Missouri here yesterday.

"These chickens have short toenails," he said, "from continuous scratching for food, and a chicken that is constantly on the scratch, like a man, is sure not to be idle."

There are many little details which

NUMEROUS MEASURES PAROCHIAL SCHOOLS

Were Filed With Clerks of Senate and House Today

BOSTON, Jan. 14.—Petitions, bills and resolutions asking all sorts of legislation from direct nominations to regulating the length of hat pins, raining down on the clerks of the senate and house today, as the barrier against new matters closes at 5 p. m. today.

"Any citizen of the commonwealth has the privilege of petitioning through some member of the legislature, and although the closing time for new business is a week shorter this year than ever before, there was no indication at noon today that the amount of material dumped into the legislative hopper would be any less than last year. In fact the chances seemed in favor of more matters. With a fairly strong republican senate and house and a democratic governor, close observers at the state house predicted less actual results than in many years.

The leading direct nomination bill was introduced today by Speaker John Walker, one of the champions of the movement, in this state, a candidate for governor next fall and already "mentioned" as a successor to Senator Lodge.

Mr. Walker's bill provides for direct nominations for all offices and for party conventions to frame and promulgate platforms and elects state committees. The bill has a referendum attachment.

Mayor John F. Fitzgerald of Boston is particularly insistent for modification of provisions applying to Boston, and authority to carry on different lines of work in which legislature approval is necessary.

Milk bills, liquor bills, labor bills, railroad bills and game bills are included in the long list of matters that have come in from different parts of the state, while the annual women's suffrage agitation appears this year on the petition of the American Federation of Labor instead of the suffrage league.

The loss was about $150,000, the most of which was suffered by the Alexander Casriel company, gold and silver refiners.

GOLDEN WEDDING

Observed by Mr. and Mrs. Racicot

Mr. and Mrs. Henri Alphonse Racicot of this city are today observing the 50th anniversary of their marriage.

Fifty years ago today, that is Jan. 14, 1861, Mr. H. A. Racicot and Miss Emilie Jonbert were united in marriage in the parochial church of St. Jean d'Iverville, Que. Four years later, on Aug. 15, 1865, the young couple emigrated to this city, where they have lived ever since, occupying the house numbered 317 Middlesex street. They were among the pioneer founders of St. Joseph's parish, and Mr. Racicot was the organizer of the first choir of the church and choirmaster for 22 consecutive years, then resigning it. After a few years he again took the direction of the choir and filled the position of choirmaster from 1899 to 1905, when he again resigned.

Two years ago, when Notre-Dame de Lourdes parish was founded, Rev. Fr. Dubreuil, O. M. I., pastor of the church, asked Mr. Racicot to organize a choir and take its direction, and Mr. Racicot accepted, for said he: "It was hard to get rid of a choir-singing and directing habit after being at it for 25 years." He has been choirmaster there since the church opened.

The venerable couple are well known and held in high esteem in this city, where they count a host of friends. Today's observance has been very quiet, owing to Mrs. Racicot's feeble health, the family only participating in the religious of the day.

MATRIMONIAL

Thursday afternoon Miss Edith Young, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Young of this city was united in marriage to Mr. George L. Willett of Panama, formerly of this city. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. W. Thomas at the bride's grandmother's home in Ayer. The bride was becomingly gowned in white and carried bride's roses. Miss Dorcas Scottton, a cousin of the bride, was bridesmaid and was attired in white. Mr. William Scrutton was best man.

A short reception was held after the ceremony and then Mr. and Mrs. Willett left on the 5:15 train for New York, from which port they sail for their far away home in Panama, where Mr. Willett holds a very lucrative position, that of district sanitary inspector.

Are you thinking of getting out a little insurance policy? Just stop and think what the Owls will do, and are doing, for their members for 75¢ a month.

All legitimate death claims and sick benefits promptly paid. Every Owl more than satisfied. What do you think about this? A $100 death claim, $7.00 per week for 13 weeks, $3.50 a week for 13 weeks more as sick benefits. Isn't that a good investment? Isn't that a nice little insurance?

The age limit is 18 and 60 years. Give your name to any good Owl that you know. ST. JOSEPH'S CONVENT SCHOOL

St. Joseph's Convent School--Its History and Its Work

History and Its Work

If you go up Moody street as far as Spaulding street you will see a large brick structure which sets back some 75 feet from the sidewalk. It is known as St. Joseph's convent. This school is for girls only. It is the only one of its kind in this city and the largest one in New England. It was erected in 1883 under the supervision of the late Fr. Gurn, O. M. I. At that time both the boys and girls attended school in that building, but the number of scholars increased so rapidly that some 15 years ago the college on Merrimack street was built for the boys. The schoolhouse contained 15 class rooms, a basement and a large gathering hall on the upper floor where entertainments were held often previous to the erection of the college. Since that time four additional rooms in the upper hall and three in the basement were built. The number of girls has so increased in St. Joseph's parish that at the present time two classes are held in a cottage house opposite the main school on Moody street, and three in the new schoolhouse in Pawtucketville. The Grey Nuns of the Cross are in charge. There number 22, counting two who have charge of the little boys from 5 to 7 years, who attend the school on Merrimack street next to St. Jean Baptiste church, and three who are conducting the Notre-Dame de Lourdes school in Branch street. In St. Joseph's convent the scholars are taught English, French, mathematics and geography. At the last diocesan examinations held in June last under the supervision of Rev. Fr. Lyons of Boston, St. Joseph's convent came out with the highest percentage for English studies. These examinations comprised all the parochial schools, both French and English, in the Boston diocese. There are a few English speaking children who attend the French schools. Among them is a little six year old Irish girl, who has been going to the Pawtucketville school for the past four months. When she entered the school she did not know A. in French; now she speaks the language fluently and still retains her English knowledge.

The superior of the convent is Rev. Sister McMillan, who celebrated her golden jubilee last November. The past superiors to the incumbent time have been: Rev. Sister Plante, now superior at Pittsburg, N. Y.; Rev. Sister St. Therese, superior of the orphanage at Ogdensburg, N. Y.; Rev. Sister St. Rubi, now in the mother house in Ottawa; Rev. Sister St. Felix, now superior at L'Orignal, Que.; Rev. Sister St. Marie de la Victoire, now at the mother house and Rev. Sisters St. Raphael superior at Sudbury, Ontario. Among the boy graduates of the convent are: Dr. P. Brunelle, Dr. G. Omer Davaille, Dr. J. G. Constantineau, Rev. Fr. Plourde, O. M. I., Rev. Fr. Turcotte, O. M. I., Rev. Fr. Choquette, Rev. Fr. Oulmette, O. M. I., Rev. Fr. Chaput, O. M. I., Rev. Fr. Carrier, O. M. I., Rev. Fr. Blais, O. M. I., Rev. Fr. Racicot, O. M. I., Rev. Fr. Herve Racette, O. M. I. D. of Tewksbury Wolfred Calsse, Jr., co-proprietor of "La Croix Rouge" pharmacy, Majorique Cossette, manager of a department in the Bon Marche, Frederick Lamoureux, manager of the H. C. Girard hardware store, Homer L. P. Turcotte, of City Messenger Joseph Parrot's staff, J. W. Puraud, Joseph Carrier of the A. G. Pollard Co., Oliver Allard, registrar of voters, Joseph Choquette of Macarthur's Apparel Shop, Albert Chouquette, of Macarthur's store of Lawrence, Edouard Vallerand of Lynn, Arthur Vallerand of Manchester, N. H., Lucien Turcotte, George E. Poitier of the Water Works office, Xavier Leclerc of the Boston & Maine office of Boston, Arthur Desmarais, manager of Zekind's foundry, Louis Oliveau, Henry Aeblin, Jr., Edelmar Desmarais, contracting plumber, Albert Allard, Joseph Constantineau, merchant, John Raymond, baker; James O'Flahavan, real estate, Frank Haymond, Elzear H. Hobart of Macarthur's Apparel Shop, H. V. Charbonneau, attorney at law; Albert Blazon, attorney at law and principal assessor, Adelard Guindon of the Boston & Maine, Albert E. Jean, cashier of the Lowell Trust, E. J. Larochelle, and others.

Miss Blanche Gosselin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Gosselin, 12 Lynde Avenue, is the brightest scholar that graduated from the convent in the past five years. She later graduated from the Lowell Commercial College and is now employed as bookkeeper for a local concern. Rev. Fr. Watelle, O. M. I., pastor of St. Joseph's parish, stated to a representative of The Sun that a new home for the Sisters will be built in the early spring on the land occupied now by the old residence, which is too small to accommodate the 22 nuns now teaching in this city.

ALBERT E. O'HEIR

Purchases Y. M. C. A. Building in Hurd St. for $25,000

It appears that Albert E. O'Heir, the association will be ready for occupancy. Mr. O'Heir has paid a substantial amount of the purchase money and the articles of agreement have been duly made out and signed so that the sale is as certain as if the entire amount were paid.

The two lots included in the purchase of the Hurd street property are approximately 167 feet frontage and about the same in depth, containing about 11,500 square feet. The assessed value is 75 cents per square foot. The property on Hurd street is bound to undergo a very material increase in value within the near future owing to the great improvements to be made on Central street in that vicinity.

Mr. O'Heir is to be congratulated on this progressive step and upon the success which makes it necessary.

He will erect upon the lot a modern and up-to-date block designed to provide every convenience for conducting thereon one of the largest furniture establishments in this part of the state.

MILLIONS SPENT

CULOSIS:

How the money spent last year in the anti-tuberculosis campaign practically doubled that spent in 1909, is shown in the second annual statistical statement published today by the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis. In its official organ, the Journal of the Outdoor Life.

The statement, which is based on reports from all parts of the United States shows that in 1910 nearly $15,000,000 was spent in the fight against tuberculosis, as opposed to $8,000,000 spent in 1909. The largest item of expense in 1910 was for treatment in sanatoria and hospitals, $11,876,500 being expended for that purpose, or more than double the amount for 1909. The anti-tuberculosis associations spent $760,500 and the tuberculosis dispensaries, $885,000. The special municipal and state expenditures aggregated $1,750,000.

The statement declares that the most significant fact in the survey of the year's work is the increase in the percentage of public money spent. While in 1909, 55.5 per cent of the total expenditures was from federal, state, municipal or county funds, 52.6 per cent came from public appropriations in 1910. The actual amount of public money spent in tuberculosis work this past year was $9,267,000, or more than double the amount from the same source in 1909. This fact indicates that the National association declares that anti-tuberculosis associations are gain-

THE CAPE COD CANAL

The seventeen lives lost on the Peaked Hills bar this week would have been saved if the Cape Cod canal were open to traffic. Already a mile of it has been excavated, and it is quite probable that another year will see the great work so far advanced that some ships can pass through. It is intended to have the canal wide enough and deep enough for war vessels to pass through.

During the great storm of December 15 quite a number of vessels took refuge in the canal while eleven vessels were wrecked off the cape.

The experiences of the past year have demonstrated most forcibly the great value of this canal, and have led a good many to inquire why it was not built before. It will help Boston, and Boston apparently needs commercial help to bring it up to what it should be as a port. At present it cannot compare in any respect to the port of New York in the volume of business and its importance as a terminal for great commercial lines.

THE SHIP SUBSIDY BILL

The republican policy of excessive protection has produced a vast crop of evils, and the queer feature of the situation is that while the fiscal policy produces trusts and combines, the government on the other hand persists in suing them as violators of the law. The high tariff protects the manufacturers from outside competition; then trusts are formed to boost prices and stamp out domestic competition. Thus the consumer gets fleeced by high prices on every hand with no hope of relief except a gradual reduction in the tariff. So high have prices been pushed that to build a ship in this country costs about twice as much as in Europe. It is plain that when the prices of the necessities of life are sent skyward, the working man must get higher wages in order to live at all. We mention the single matter of ships because there is talk now of passing a ship subsidy bill. In the first place the high tariff makes it unprofitable to build ships in this country and also makes the trade of such ships unprofitable. What is now proposed is to grant large subsidies in order to build up a merchant marine. There is little doubt that the combinations of organized wealth will take advantage of any such measure and defeat its purpose by turning the subsidies to their own private gain.

It appears, therefore, that the solution of the whole proposition resolves itself back to first principles of restoring competition by reducing the tariff so that the fictitious values now affixed to everything in this country may be overcome. It is time the government stopped passing laws to foster the trusts, while at the same time passing laws and engaging in expensive litigation to penalize the trusts. It is time the government policy were changed so that long established industries shall not be made the beneficiaries of government subsidies that enable them to extort exorbitant prices from the people for their products.

The plausible schemes by which the advocates of ship subsidies are endeavoring to promote their graft are quite transparent, and in this particular case are notable for their ingenuity in deceiving the people. The latest subsidy bill is described as one "to protect American trade and American shipping from foreign monopolies." Thanks to our high protective tariff foreign ships have a monopoly of our American trade. If the United States went to war tomorrow the government would not have American ships enough to serve as transports, because of the manner in which shippers have been put out of business by the excessive tariff put in force by the republican party.

DEMANDS FOR NEW CHARTERS

It is a somewhat strange coincidence that the cities of Lowell and Lawrence will appear before the legislature this year asking for new city charters and both cities choosing practically the same form of charter—a slight modification of the Des Moines instrument.

It is remarkable also that the practical politicians of both cities oppose this new form of charter. In both cities, too, there seems to be a very general willingness to cut away from party lines in municipal affairs in order to test the claims of those who insist that with the elimination of the party designation we can have better results in city politics. The friends of good government are willing to concur in any change of this kind, willing in fact to adopt any course that offers a reasonable guarantee of better government.

What the city of Lowell wants is a government that will conduct the city's business on business principles. The people are tired of the double-headed city council that results in so many wrangles, so many deadlocks and such discouraging delay of business. When both branches have got tired wrangling over any point of difference, they may come to an agreement that will be unacceptable to the mayor. Then comes the executive veto, causing more delay and more wrangling.

The provisions of the proposed charter as we understand it would completely stop all this nonsense. The mayor would not have the power of veto on the actions of the council of which he is a member. The council could conduct the city's business as a board of directors, sitting around a table and discussing in a business fashion what is best for the city's interest in every step taken. Although each member of the council will be assigned to look after one or more of the departments, yet he will be under the control of the entire body, so that there is still a guarantee of safety against any extravagance by an individual member. The presumption is, that the citizens would elect a more competent set of men to fill the five offices than they have been electing for the double-headed city council. The number to be chosen will be so small that every voter could easily find out the qualifications of the candidates and thus vote more intelligently. Moreover, the business could be done more promptly and very opportunity of doing a thing at the right time and in the right way could be taken advantage of with good results to the city.

Considerable objection is made to the small number of members to constitute the governing body. The number is large enough if it be made up of the right men. Of course if the voters should be untrue to themselves and elect five or even three weak or dishonest men to the council, the situation would be dangerous to the city. But the voters even then are not without a remedy, for they hold in their hand at all times the power of recall for any or all elected officials. That is a power that has not been provided for in any of the old city charters. It might never be required but it is well to have it in order to prevent officials from forgetting their duty. If the city council so chosen would refuse to enact any measure demanded by the people, then the voters and taxpayers through the referendum provided also in this charter could compel them to enact the measure or could enact it over their heads. Thus, then, it appears that under this new form of charter the people would have immeasurably greater power than they ever had under any of the old city charters and hence the talk of removing the power farther away from the people is sheer nonsense. The power is concentrated in the hands of the voters so that they can use it effectively whenever they please if the officials do not perform their duty properly. That is all the guarantee that any charter can offer, and in our opinion the voters should be anxious to get such power placed in their hands in order that they can hold the whip-hand at all times over their elected officials. At the present time a great many men are unwilling to run for public office because as things go most men are afraid to get mixed in the wrangles, the brawls and the charges that are inseparably connected with elections and office-holding generally. It is hoped that under the new charter the political atmosphere will be cleared and purified so that no man need be afraid of losing his reputation or his standing in the community by running for public office.

SEEN AND HEARD

He asked her hand in marriage and she told him to go to her father. Later she told the story of the proposal to some of her girl friends, and this is what she said:

"I told him to go to my father. I know that he knew my father was dead."

"I know that he knew the life father had led."

"And I knew that he knew what I meant when I said: 'Go to my father.'"

"What doth it profit a man to gain office if he lose his honor?"

There is considerable satisfaction, at times, in knowing that a girl doesn't mean all she says.

B. & M. BOWLERS

Have Died From the Plague

PEKIN, Jan. 14.—Alarm was created today by a note issued from the German legation stating that a death from plague had occurred in this city and warning the women and children of foreigners to depart. Later the report of a death proved to be unfounded and the capital is still free of the epidemic.

A total of 1300 Chinese have died from the disease at Harbin. There have been only seven deaths in the foreign colony there.

CUT HER GREEK

When She Refused to Marry Him

NEW YORK, Jan. 14.—Renardo Blondi made his 21st proposal of marriage yesterday to Nunzio Cesareo and it is open court.

The all-important question and the girl's refusal stand upon the court records. It was the only question Blondi asked after listening to the girl's recital of the 20th proposal. At that time she said, "Blondi attempted to cut her throat when she refused. She displayed a long scar on cheek and neck to support her charge. The magistrate informed the prisoner that he might ask any question of the witness he pleased."

"I want to ask her to be my wife," said Blondi hopefully. "The girl shook her head and Blondi lost interest in proceedings. He was held in $2000 bonds for trial on a charge of attempted murder."

BUFFALO, N. Y., Jan. 14.—The final nine hours' grind of the six days' bicycle race at the Broadway Arsenal in this city began today with every indication of a hard-fought climax. The total scores show three teams tied at 1052 miles, 8 laps, two teams a lap behind the leaders and four teams another lap away, as follows:

Patrick O'Sullivan, Hehir-Goulet, Lewison-Rout, Clarke-Eye, 1052-8; Wiley-Millett, Walther-Walker 1042-7; Calvin-West, Cred-Thomson, Lawrence-Drobach, Hill-Fogler, 1052-6.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 14.—Charged with robbing many postoffices in the New England states, Otto Von Monstrom, aged 22, this morning was held here for his appearance in court in Portland, Me. Postal inspectors say that the prisoner is also wanted for many robberies throughout the country. Von Monstrom was arrested in Yonkers, N. Y., and was recognized by postal inspectors who say they had searched him for years.

NATIONAL CIVIC FEDERATION NEW YORK, Jan. 14.—Delegates to the National Civic Federation meeting today for the last day of the National Civic Federation session, mediation and arbitration of industrial disputes emphasis was laid by the speakers on the prevention of lockouts and strikes affecting public service corporations. THE TRACK TEAM OF LOWELL HIGH SCHOOL GETTING INTO SHAPE RAPIDLY

The members of the Lowell High school track team are showing up well in practice and are rapidly developing into fine shape. The season will open during the latter part of the month and it is expected that Lowell will have as clever a bunch of athletes as ever represented the school.

The call for candidates was made several weeks ago and scores have reported for try-outs. Twice each week the members have met at the high school annex and under the direction of Dr. Fordyce Collier have been put through a systematic series of stunts.

Captain Leggett, Sullivan, Fraser, Spaulding, Carter and Donahue are some of the older runners who will undoubtedly find places on the team. There were more than fifty candidates at the annex yesterday and for two hours worked hard.

Kline kept after Attell throughout the fight and took a lot of punishment in his endeavor to land a knockout blow. But Attell's clever footwork and ducking caused many of Kline's vicious swings to go wild. The clinches Attell pummeled the Newark boy's kidneys severely. SPIRIT OF RIVALRY

NEW YORK, Jan. 14.—Emphatic opposition to the fortification of the Panama canal, urged by President Taft, by Representative David J. Foster, chairman of the house committee on foreign affairs, and a declaration by Chairman Tawney of the house appropriations committee that great armaments are a temptation toward war, marked a joint mass meeting of the New York Peace society and the People's Institute held here last night.

The vast armaments tend to promote a spirit of rivalry among nations to excel each other, said Mr. Tawney.

"When it was heralded about the world that the United States had launched its battleship of 18,000 tons, 3000 tons in excess of our then largest battleship, it seemed advisable to submit to congress a supplemental estimate for 20,000-ton battleship. As a conclusive argument in support of the authorization of such a ship our chief executive at that time (Theodore Roosevelt) said to me: I want to be able to say when I go out of office that I have authorized the construction of the biggest battleship the world has ever seen."

Although congress at that time did nothing more than authorize the preparation of plans for a battleship of that size, at its next session, under the pressure of a manufactured Japanese war scare, it provided for the ships. But before the adjournment of congress England laid the keels of two 23,000 ton dreadnaughts and in order to gratify a personal and national ambition to excel England, congress authorized the construction of two battleships of 26,000 tons displacement.

Mr. Tawney's subject was "The Cost of Armed Peace."

"Instead of being a guarantee of

"With the nations of the earth agreeing to our rules of neutrality, the fortification of the canal would be not only unnecessary but a crime against civilization and a criminal expenditure of the people's money," said Representative Foster. Mr. Foster argued that as future generations must bear the burden of maintaining the canal, it was right that they should be considered in the fortification problem. The revenues of the canal were doubtful he believed, in view of the railroad across the Isthmus of Tehuantepec, already a strong and successful competitor. The initial cost of fortifications would be $60,000,000, he thought, and in maintaining them $5,000,000 annually would be expended, adding to the perpetual burden which fortifications would impose."

He further considered that fortifications established at great cost might prove utterly useless in a few years in view of aviation development.

"Within a decade," he said, "it will be possible for an enemy to send from a battleship an airship which, sailing 10,000 feet above the earth, could drop an explosive capable of utterly annihilating the proposed fortifications."

The United States navy," the speaker declared, "can furnish more adequate defense for the canal than any fortification we could possibly construct."

He concluded with the declaration that if the United States carried out its policy of neutralization of the canal, the world would join hands for its protection and its safety would be guaranteed forever and forevermore."

LOWELL OPERA HOUSE

The Augusta Perry company will conclude its engagement here at the Opera House with today's matinee and evening performance, presenting for the afternoon bill, "The Street Singer's Revenge," and tonight a laughable comedy drama, "My Wife Won't Let Me." Prices for this engagement are 10 cents to all parts of the house for the matinee and 10 and 25 cents at night.

FAMOUS STAR COMING

When Joseph F. Sheehan, the great tenor, brings his company to the Opera House next Tuesday, Jan. 17, for a performance of "Il Trovatore" it will be the last opportunity of hearing this wonderful artist for some time, as Mr. Sheehan's contracts for the next two years call for his exclusive appearance in Chicago and New York, and in order to make this farewell tour a memorable one he has brought together an excellent company for a performance of that popular opera, "Il Trovatore."

It has long been known that the role of "Manrico" in "Il Trovatore" is the greatest in Mr. Sheehan's repertoire of over 100 operas. No other living tenor, not even Caruso, takes the high "C" at the end of the "di quella pira," the great tenor solo. He has sung this one role over 500 times.

The rest of his all star cast has been selected, each and everyone, as being the best in the country for the roles assigned to them.

Elaine de Sellein, the eminent French contralto, has made a special study of the role of "Amina," and her interpretation of the character, as well as her beautiful voice, has caused a sensation since her arrival in this country.

Grace Nelson, the prima donna soprano, is by voice and temperament especially fitted for the role of "Leonora."

Louis LaValle, the famous English baritone from the Royal Opera, London, England, has no superior as the "Count di Luna," and so on down the list; even the minor parts are taken by artists who rank high in their profession.

The chorus is the best voiced and trained of any ever heard in a Sheehan company, and that is saying a great deal.

The scenic production and electrical effects will be of the finest, and all indications point that the Opera House will not be able to hold all who will try to hear this great company.

MADAME X

Following the close of the Boston engagement Madame X. will be seen here at the Opera House. It is expected now that the Lowell engagement will be for three days, although it is possible it may be for only two.

SEVEN DAYS

Manager Ward of the Opera House is in receipt of contracts for the appearance here for two performances of "Seven Days," the comedy hit that has just closed a run of several months at the Park theatre, Boston.

MARIE CAHILL

One of the notable features of Marie Cahill's "Judy Forget" company is the famous Judy chorus of sixty young girls, not one of which was ever on stage professionally until engaged by Daniel V. Arthur for Miss Cahill.

These young ladies are all under 20 years of age. They were chosen for their singing ability and physical attractiveness, and Mr. Arthur had them trained especially for the many dancing numbers. So great has been the success of the Judy chorus that Mr. Arthur declares he will never make use of the typical "show girl" again.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

There will be another of those popular sacred concert programs presented at three consecutive concerts Sunday at the Merrimack Square theatre. There will be the usual matinee at 3 o'clock, and two evening performances, at 7 and 9 o'clock respectively.

The bill is one which is sure to interest patrons and which is in entire keeping with the day. It will include many who have never appeared in Lowell before, among them Miss Grace LaVedan, and Charles Frazer. The list of moving pictures films will include all the newest and best obtainable. Seats for the concerts are now on sale at the box office.

A glance at next week's program at the theatre is all that is necessary to give patrons an idea of the unusually high class entertainment to be presented. It may be said, however, that it is expected to be the best bill yet presented at this house.

Heading the program are Mr. and Mrs. Dannie Mann, those popular "way down Maine folks," presenting an original pastoral comedy, played called "Mandy Hawking." Both Mr. and Mrs. Mann are well known to followers of vaudeville all over the east, as character artists of unusual powers, while the little play in which they are to appear here is said to be one of the strongest and most delightful bits of its kind on any of the circuits today.

Mr. and Mrs. Mann carry all their own scenery and the presentation is marked by some unusual electrical effects. It is one of the best sketches presented in Lowell for many, many months.

Those who follow vaudeville will also catch at the name of Gilbert Looe, the soloist and comedian. Mr. Looe is familiar to audiences all over this section of the country through his former appearance with Lew Dockstader's minstrels. He is now in vaudeville, and comes to this city as "the fashion plate comedian" in an offering which is sure to enhance his reputation and delight his audience.

week's bill include the Four Everett acrobats and equilibrists; Archer and Carr, singing and talking comedians, and Harrington and Millard, pair of songsters who are sure to please.

There will also be a carefully selected series of the best moving pictures. On Monday night, the theatre orchestra will give another of those popular 15-minute concerts, this time from L'Amore.

For the benefit of patrons who are especially interested in Mr. and Mrs. Dannie Mann, it may be stated that they will appear respectively at 3 and 5.40 and at 9 o'clock in the evening.

COLONIAL THEATRE

Those who have not seen the vaudeville and pictures being shown at the Colonial for the last half of this week are missing a real treat. Roger's wonderfully trained dogs; the Great Do Forest, a female impersonator; Mason and Burke in a dramatic act, and the Gathland Sisters, who help make up a good bill, close their engagement to-night.

Tomorrow there will be a sacred concert at which six acts of vaudeville as well as four reels of pictures will be seen.

For the first half of next week another good show is promised.

The feature act will be Orthake & Blanchette, a team of acrobats, who make a specialty of jumping up stairs on their heads; Loring Parrott and a company of four in a vaudeville farce, "The Gibson Girl"; Those Kids, singing, dancing and comedy artists, and Arthur Pipkin, midget comedian, will be the others to entertain.

THEATRE VOYONS

"The Italian Barber," a biography subject, is the feature of today's program at the Theatre Voyons and it goes big and deserves every bit of its popularity. "An Intrigue" is a pleasing dramatic subject well staged and finely costumed and the comedy "Love Under Difficulties" is a genuine laugh. "The Funeral of Count Tolstoy" is an interesting news picture and one most impressive as it shows the burial of this great Russian in the forest as was his wish. Tomorrow the usual excellent Sunday program will be given and the pictures will be unapproachable in quality, newness and variety. The musical features are of the best and all are well given.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC

Today will be the last chance to see the great educated horse, "Col. Fred," and you surely will find it worth while witnessing his act, which includes many new tricks. Other acts on the bill are Mary Davis, singing comedian, and Jessie Bill & Co. in a comedy sketch, entitled "An Interrupted Rehearsal." A sacred concert will be given on Sunday. Miss May E. Whitley, the well known soprano, has been added to the singing staff of this house and will be heard in a selected solo on Sunday.

ANNUAL MEETING

OF THE SWEDISH MUTUAL AID SOCIETY

The 23d annual meeting of the Swedish Mutual Aid society was held last night in Odd Fellows temple in Middlesex street. Torsten Reenstierna was chosen to preside over the meeting and Olaf Bernstrom was chosen secretary pro tem. The principal business of the meeting was the election of officers which resulted as follows: President, Eric A. Johnson; vice-president, Edward Wickstrom; recording secretary, Ernest F. Bjorkman; financial secretary, Charles F. Wagnner; treasurer, Nels P. Christensen; sick visitors, Emil C. Pearson, Martin Anderson, John Sorenson and Carl J. Magnusson; and Mrs. Anders Thomasson, and Miss Josephine Pearson; auditor, Torsten Reenstierna and Olaf A. Bernstrom; alternates, Miller F. Nelson and Carl V. Nelson; physician, Dr. J. B. Albert Johnson.

Ladd & Whitney Circle

The Ladies' Aid of the society met last night and had a very interesting meeting. Although but a few months old, this society has created a great deal of interest. The regular meeting of Ladd and Whitney Circle, Ladies of the G. A. R., was held Wednesday night at Post 185 hall in Central street. Considerable routine business was transacted, after which the recently elected officers were installed by Past President Mary Hamblett. Supper was served during the evening.

STRONG OPPOSITION

Anti-Lodge Men Were Active at the Republican Conference

BOSTON, Jan. 14.—The republican members of the legislature who went into Representative Russell Woods' "fair play" conference on the United States senatorship yesterday proved that the democrats are not stronger than they in the talk line.

For two hours and a half yesterday afternoon, after the adjournment of the legislature, champions of Lodge and Ames discussed the senatorship and the issues in the contest. They adjourned without having accomplished much beyond an exchange of well known views.

The Lodge men, led by White of Brooklyn, Underhill of Somerville, Cushing of Boston, Wolcott of Milton and Washburn of Worcester, went into the Wood "fair play" conference to have some fun with the Cambridge anti-Lodge republicans who had sent out the call for the meeting, and were doing a very fair job of it until Coggswell of Lynn and Greenwood of Everett, also anti-Lodge, told them that the joshing gauds would have to stop as they came there for a serious purpose.

After Representative Wolcott had favored the election of Congressman Ames of Lowell, whose platform he read. No other republican of prominence has come out against the senior senator; no other candidate has declared his principles.

Lodge Ought to Resign.

Representative Barlow of Lowell said he knew that this was a very heated question. It is one for which our action will be criticized no matter what stand you take. All the manufacturers in my district are very much in favor of the re-election of Senator Lodge, but the rank and file of the people in both parties are opposed and if the republican party is to hold its control in this state then he must be defeated.

"If Senator Lodge's re-election I should say that he ought to resign immediately for the interest of the party welfare or else we shall have the very same issues that we had last fall and Gov. Ross, some man of his caliber will continue to hold down the governor's chair as long as he sits in the senate of the United States."

Mr. Washburn of Worcester asked Mr. Barlow whether if Mr. Lodge is to be repudiated Senator Crane and President Taft would not have to be repudiated also, because their records are just the same.

Mr. White and Cape Cod

Mr. Barlow said that perhaps he was not as familiar with the records of the men as he should be. He had heard very little against Mr. Crane; there was a little against President Taft, but there was an enormous lot against Mr. Lodge. "I do believe," continued Mr. Barlow, "that whether his record is right or wrong, it makes no difference so far as the welfare of our party and state is concerned."

Representative Underhill of Somerville asked if the gentlemen really believed that the same feeling exists today as at the time of the election, and if so how he accounted for the ballot on the Cape.

Mr. Barlow said that he was informed that after the representative from Providence had sent out his 1500 letters asking for an expression of popular opinion that Mr. White of Brookline went down to the Cape and interviewed the voters, causing them to sign requests to their representatives to vote for Senator Lodge.

Representative Underhill asked if the old saying might be applicable to the change of sentiment of the people. "You can fool some of the people all the time; but you can't fool all of the people all of the time."

Representative Barlow came back quick with: "The people last fall seemed to indicate that they had been fooled all the time." He acknowledged that he was for Mr. Ames first, but that whoever it might be they should unite on somebody to defeat Senator Lodge.

THE LOCAL MILLS

Are Selling All the Goods That They Make

In an Associated press despatch treasurer of the Talbot mills, North from Boston, yesterday, it was stated that the cotton manufacturers of the country are considering the advisability of adopting a drastic curtailment policy, because of expensive raw material and an indifferent goods policy.

Lowell mill agents, while aware of the almost prohibitive price of raw material and poor goods market, were not aware that the manufacturers were considering a curtailment policy.

The Lowell mills are running fairly full at the present time and are selling all the goods they make. For several weeks, during the very dry spell, there were a great many idle spindles in Lowell, because the Locks & Canals could afford to allow the mills only a limited amount of water. The recent rains, however, have made it possible for the Locks & Canals company to allow the mills all the water they want, with the result that the erstwhile idle spindles are now in operation.

A mill official in conversation with a reporter for The Sun, yesterday, said: "Few people in Lowell had any idea of the number of spindles that were idle in Lowell because of shortage of water. In one mill, more than 1000 spindles were idle and in other mills the number of idle spindles averaged all the way from 200 to 600. Now that there is plenty of water most of these spindles have been put in operation again and I think the mills are selling about all the goods they make. But selling all the goods they make doesn't mean that they are selling at a profit."

An official of the Massachusetts mills stated that a shortage of water was responsible for the closing of between 300 and 400 spindles in that mill and that those spindles are now being operated. There is lots of water at the present time and it is not expected that there will be another shortage for months to come. About all of the pain came after the ground was frozen with the result that most of the water found its way to the river.

The curtailment policy spoken of in yesterday's despatch is not reflected in any of the local mills and certainly not in the Massachusetts mills. This corporation is installing new machinery in its new mills, the spinning and weaving mill in Merrimack square and the carding mill on the Concord River line. The Massachusetts mills are also hastening to completion the boiler house 285 by 50 feet, with chimney 250 feet high, on land reclaimed from the Merrimack river. The steel work of the new boiler house is now complete. The new weaving and spinning and carding mills will be in operation within three or four months.

The Textile School

A new Davis & Furber dry dressing frame and a 40 end Jack spooler of the latest type have been installed in the warm preparation room of the Lowell Textile school, and a new Ray grinder has been installed in the wool department.

A new electric machine for the making of blue prints has been installed in the engineering department.

It is of the upright type and is capable of making two 4x72 inch prints at a time. Washing and drying tanks are also being erected to be used in connection with it. This will be a big improvement in the engineering department, as blue prints can now be made without the aid of the sun, whereas formerly it was necessary to wait for a sunny day in order to develop for the plate.

We have felt that the rivalry between the schools is too keen and that the strain on the players and other pupils as the game approaches is greater than that which is consistent with good school keeping.

Such being our opinion, it was voted fully & week before the Thanksgiving day game took place that it would be for our best interests not to arrange a game for next year.

We are now of the same opinion, and we wish to notify you thus early in order that you may not be hampered in any way in making your schedule for another year.

My dear Mr. Horne:—I beg to acknowledge the receipt of a communication from the Haverhill High School Athletic board notifying me that in the opinion of that body it is for the best interest of the Haverhill High school not to arrange a football game for next Thanksgiving day between the Haverhill High school and the Lawrence High school.

Commenting on the situation, the Haverhill Gazette has the following to say:

It is predicted that if the Haverhill High takes on Lowell as the team will which to play the annual Thanksgiving day game, Lawrence High will next year be begging to be taken back with Haverhill once more. Last year Lowell and Lawrence split and the only big game played at Lawrence had was with Haverhill, whereas in former years the game which they played with Lowell was given nearly as much prominence as the annual battle with the local team. Now Haverhill and Lowell will occupy the centre of the stage in Merrimack valley athletics and Lawrence will be, in a way, frozen out. It will be difficult for Lawrence to find another rival and none can be found whose geographical position will admit of any big rivalry. As for Haverhill, the game with Lowell last year attracted thousands of people and Haverhill was beaten by a small margin. Lowell's teams have been better the past few years and a battle between Lowell and Haverhill, if arranged, will be to the finish on the coming turkey day. It is thought that Lawrence will learn her lesson this year and that she will be more willing to do business with Haverhill on a better basis and with a more sports-

It is stated that the Hamilton Mfg. Co. will build a large bleach house in the spring. HAVERHILL HIGH

Severs Athletic Relations With Lawrence

The Lawrence High school football team, not content with severing relations with Lowell, has gotten in bad with Haverhill and athletic relations with that school have also been severed.

The trouble with Haverhill came at the football game between the representatives of these schools last fall, when the contest ended in a wrangle, and Lawrence, refusing to abide by the rulings of the referee, walked off the playing field. The game was awarded to Haverhill.

Since that time the faculty and student managers of both schools have been at odds and the whole affair was brought to a climax recently when the following letter was forwarded by the graduate association of Haverhill to the Board of Health.

CENTRAL CLUB

The town hall in North Chelmsford was overtaxed last evening with the number who attended the whist party and dance conducted by the St. John's Ladies auxiliary. This society is well known for the pretty and successful parties it conducts, but last night's exceeded all previous events. From $8.20 a concert was given by Gilmore's orchestra, and at $2.50 general dancing commenced to an order of 20 numbers, while in the lower hall every available space was used for the whist players, many having to leave and join the dancers in the upper hall. Whist continued until 10 o'clock, when an intermission was given by the dancers. Refreshments were served in the lower hall, during which time the announcements were made of the following winners of the whist prizes: Lady's first, prize (salad dish), Maud O'Neill; gentleman's first prize (gold stickpin), Dr. James Hoban; lady's second prize (chinaware), Hannah Cummings; gentleman's second prize (tobacco jar), Alphonse Magnant. He and Arthur Miner were tied, so the committee let go a prize for Mr. Miner also. The heavy prizes were awarded to John McQuaid and Jenalee Lavelle. After intermission, dancing was confined until 12 o'clock, when the party came to a close. A late car returned to Lowell with the very large number who were present from the city.

The committee in charge was as follows: General manager, Lillian Welch; assistant, Mary Valentine; floor director, Iselle Valentine; assistant, Annie Welch; chief aid, Nellie Ward; chairman of the reception committee, Mrs. Fred Gaudente.

The whist was in charge of Loretta McNamee, Nina Callahan, Janie Laflamme and Rena Welch. The chairman of the refreshment committee was Maud O'Neill, assisted by the other members of the society.
